MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Official:

The Wisconsin Department of Justice, through its operations, assists local law enforcement every day to bolster and reinforce public safety efforts in Wisconsin, but our efforts to enhance public safety are much more than programmatic. As Attorney General, I am uniquely positioned to advocate for initiatives and defend successful partnerships that will maintain Wisconsin's position as a national leader in law enforcement.

With this in mind, I have asked the Governor to include additional scientists for the crime lab in his budget, to do the DNA analysis the Department is required by law to perform. The substantial increase in submissions speaks well of your efforts to collect evidence, but without the additional scientists, we will risk a return to long delays. I have set a benchmark goal of 60 days from the time local law enforcement submits the sample to return of the results by the lab, absent unusual circumstances. The additional scientists will help us meet this goal and return the lab results to police and prosecutors in a timely fashion.

I have also requested additional resources to fight internet predators. This request is due in great measure to the work we've done together over the last four years to build the Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) Task Force. Protecting Wisconsin's children from Internet predators has been one of my highest priorities and the additional resources will help us develop further partnerships with local law enforcement and keep our children safe.

Law enforcement's opinion and mission matter in Madison. It's not only I, but the Legislators and Governor who value your perspective on legislation concerning public safety. In that spirit, the Governor's budget proposal includes the resources I've asked for and we are hopeful the legislature will likewise approve them. I know the legislative process can sometimes appear complicated and difficult to navigate, but let us help if we can. We are but a phone call away to answer a question.

I encourage you to contact Brian O'Keefe, DOJ's Administrator for Law Enforcement Services, if you have ideas about new initiatives requiring legislation or ideas about making changes to existing law that will promote public safety. Brian is always a good place to start with any questions or concerns you may have. There are many areas where the Wisconsin Department of Justice's interests are closely aligned with yours. Our ability to work together has had good results in past budgets and legislative sessions.

Let's continue to positively impact not only the safety of our communities, but together, the greater public safety of our great state. I look forward to hearing from you as we continue our work to improve public safety in Wisconsin.

Sincerely,

*J.B. Van Hollen
Wisconsin Attorney General*

2011 Attorney General's Summit on Public Safety

“Targets and Threats: Preparing Wisconsin”

Wednesday evening, June 29, through Friday afternoon, July 1, 2011
Chula Vista, Wisconsin Dells

A Wisconsin teenager holds his classmates and a teacher hostage before taking his own life. Marinette Police Chief Jeff Skorik will discuss how the situation unfolded in the social studies classroom at Marinette High School last November.

The focus of terrorists on U.S. soil has shifted from large scale attacks to smaller, but harder to detect operations. Within the past year, law enforcement officials have thwarted bombing attempts in Portland, Oregon, and at Times Square in New York. Homeland Security officials believe there are terrorist operatives in this country that could strike with little or no warning. Attendees will hear about the latest Homeland Security threats and from a number of Wisconsin law enforcement administrators who will talk about the threats police officers face each day.

Bouncing back and managing stress. Faced with traumatic events on a daily basis, police personnel must be able to recover quickly from difficult situations. This year's program will include presentations on the military's resiliency training program and the managing of stress in today's law enforcement agencies.

The 2011 Summit breakout sessions include presentations on Regional Response Teams, Trauma Services at Crime Scenes, Threats Facing Wisconsin Schools and DNA. Assistant Attorney General Dave Perlman will provide an overview of recent court cases and take a Look at Daubert.

United States v. Mann
Decided by the 7th Circuit
United States Court of Appeals
January 20, 2010

Issue:

This 7th circuit case deals with the scope of a search warrant for computer evidence. Specifically the court dealt with whether a search warrant for a computer looking for evidence of voyeurism justified a look at files that contained child pornography. The court held that since evidence of voyeurism could be secreted most anywhere in a computer it did not exceed the scope of the warrant to look at portions of the hard drive that happened to contain child pornography. However, the court held that a look at 4 files that were red flagged as child pornography did exceed the scope of the warrant.

Facts:

While working as a life guard instructor the defendant covertly installed a video camera in the women's locker room to capture footage of women changing their clothes. The defendant also inadvertently captured video footage of himself installing the camera in an open locker. One of the women eventually discovered the camera and surrendered it to the police department.

Three days later the District Attorney sought and received a search warrant for officers to search the defendant's residence for among other things, his computer, looking for evidence of voyeurism. . The officers seized a Dell desktop computer with a Samsung hard drive, a Dell laptop, an e-machine, and a Western Digital external hard drive.

The computers were searched by the officers using a "write blocker" to protect the hard drives from being altered and then the police created an exact match of each hard drive. The police then used a "forensic tool kit (FTK) to catalogue the images on the computer into a viewable format. This indexing process allows the police to know how many images, videos, and documents are on the computer. The FTK also lists files flagged by software, "Known File Filter", (KFF) which flags those files identifiable from a library of known files previously submitted by law enforcement; most of which contain child pornography.

The search of the hardware revealed both evidence of voyeurism and child pornography. The search of the 4 files identified as KFF alert files revealed many images of child pornography.

The Defendant's Argument:

The defendant argued that all the child pornography evidence found on the computer should be suppressed since the police exceeded the scope of the warrant, which limited them to a search for evidence of voyeurism.

The State's Argument:

The state argued that since voyeurism evidence can be secreted anywhere in the computer the search did not exceed the scope of the warrant. The state reasoned that the child pornography images the police found along the way was lawfully seized under the plain view doctrine.

The 7th Circuit Court of Appeals Holding:

The court agreed with the state in part and with the defendant in part. The court held that the child pornography the police found in the hard drive was justifiably discovered since the police were justified to search the hard drive to look for evidence of voyeurism. However the court held that the search of the four files discovered by KFF software exceeded the scope of the warrant since these files were flagged as child pornography files, and would not be likely repositories of voyeurism evidence.

Note: This case reminds police that a search warrant for a computer for a specific type of evidence is not a "blank check" to search the whole computer. While often extensive searches will be justified since computer evidence can be secreted most anywhere in a computer, a search of specific files for evidence of criminal activity different than the activity specified in the search warrant exceeds the scope of the warrant. In this case what the police should have done is get a second search warrant for child pornography evidence as authorization for their search of the 4 flagged files. However, the observation of other child pornography images throughout the hard drive was permissible since the police were looking in areas where voyeurism evidence might be found.

“DNA Needed” Flags Now Active

On March 21, 2011, the "DNA Needed" flag was activated in almost 1,900 computerized criminal history (CCH) records. When queried, these CCH records will now display a message showing the offender owes a DNA sample to the Wisconsin DNA Databank.

There are several resources available to assist law enforcement officers in handling situations when they encounter this new flag:

- An article in October 2010's Law Enforcement Bulletin, pages 7-8, entitled "The DNA Collection Statute: What It Means for Law Enforcement," explains options available to officers encountering a subject who owes a biological specimen and how a warrant for the specimen may be obtained. (<https://wilenet.org/html/bulletin/Oct10.pdf>)
- DOJ's website contains in-depth information including a model policy for jails, a list of offenses requiring submission of DNA, and a text including information on the Databank, how specimens are collected, and the necessity of fingerprints to create criminal history records. (<http://www.doj.state.wi.us/dles/crimelabs/databank.asp>)
- The Crime Lab's section of WILENET contains all the information on the public DOJ page, with the addition of forms and training videos discussing the Databank, applicable law, proper collection and submission, and supplemental materials. (<https://wilenet.org/secure/html/crimelab/dna/index.htm>)

Wisconsin's DNA Databank helps identify suspects and link crimes. Law enforcement's assistance will increase the availability of DNA profiles and enhance the usefulness of the Databank in solving crimes in our communities.

FBI OFFICERS KILLED

These statistics represent preliminary information received by the FBI during January through February 2011: Eleven law enforcement officers have been killed due to criminal actions. During January 2010, nine officers were slain. Circumstances involving the 11 officers slain in 2011 are as follows: six were attempting other arrests, two were ambushed, one was investigating suspicious persons or circumstances, one was involved in investigative activity, and one officer was slain during traffic pursuit and stop. Six deaths occurred in the south, three in the midwest, one in the west, and one in the northeast. Firearms were used in all 11 of the killings (nine handguns, and two shotguns). Five of the 11 officers were wearing protective vests. There have been nine separate incidents in which these 11 officers have been slain. All 11 incidents have been cleared by arrest or exceptional means. Four law enforcement officers have been accidentally killed.

During the same time period in 2010, 16 officers were accidentally killed. Circumstances involving the four officers accidentally killed in 2011 are as follows: two officers were killed in automobile accidents, one in motorcycle accident and one officer was accidentally shot. Three deaths occurred in the south and one in the midwest.

Incident Summaries

U.S. Marshals Service, Clarksburg, West Virginia, Deputy Marshal, aged 24 with over one year of law enforcement experience with agency, was fatally shot on 02/16/2011. Between 8:00 a.m. and 8:30 a.m., execution of arrest/search warrant involving seven Deputy U.S. marshals and three West Virginia State Police officers was performed on Elkins residence. Upon breaching residence, officers were immediately under fire by subject, who utilized 12-gauge shotgun from behind closed door. Gunfire from subject struck three U.S. Marshals. Entry team returned fire and subdued subject, who died from gunfire wounds at scene. Two of three wounded U.S. Marshals were life-flighted to hospital where one U.S. Marshal was pronounced deceased at 11:12 a.m.

St. Petersburg Police Department, Florida, Veteran Officer, aged 46 with 25 years of law enforcement experience, was fatally shot on 02/21/2011. At approximately 10:30 p.m., Officer responded to suspicious person call. Officer encountered unidentified individual with whom he exchanged gunfire. Victim Officer was shot multiple times at close range and later succumbed to his injuries. Subject fled scene of incident, but was taken into custody on 02/22/2011, when he subsequently confessed to his actions.

Additional details regarding these incidents are not available at this time. Should you wish to obtain information for condolence purposes, please contact your department's Law Enforcement Online (LEO) representative.

These statistics represent preliminary information received by the FBI, January through December 2010: Fifty-six law enforcement officers have been killed due to criminal actions. During the same time period in 2009, 48 officers were slain. Circumstances involving the 56 slain officers are as follows: 14 officers were ambushed, eight were performing traffic pursuits/stops, eight were investigating suspicious persons or circumstances, six were attempting other arrests, six were answering disturbance calls (four being domestic-related), five were investigating robberies, three were investigating burglaries, two were involved in investigative activities, two were involved in tactical situations, one was involved in drug-related matter, and one officer was handling prisoner(s) at time of attack. Twenty-two deaths occurred in the south, 18 in the west, ten in the midwest, three in the northeast, and three in the U.S. Territory of Puerto Rico. Firearms were used in 55 of the 56 killings (37 handguns, 14 rifles, three shotguns, and one firearm type not reported) and a vehicle was used in one killing. Thirty-one of the 56 officers were wearing protective vests. There have been 51 separate incidents in which these 56 officers have been slain. Forty-eight of the 51 incidents have been cleared by arrest or exceptional means. Seventy-one law enforcement officers have been accidentally killed. During the same time period in 2009, 48 officers were accidentally killed. Forty-four officers were killed in automobile accidents, 11 were struck by vehicles, seven officers were killed in motorcycle accidents, three were accidentally shot, two were killed in aircraft accidents, one was killed from falling, one was killed in boating accident, one was killed in ATV accident, and one officer was killed in accident during bicycle team training exercise. ## 11th Annual Law Enforcement Administrative Professionals

Open A Door to New Opportunities

June 15-17, 2011 | Egg Harbor, WI

Conference Description

This year's conference will focus on the leadership role of administrative professionals within their agencies as well as within their communities by connecting with others and opening doors to new opportunities. Through workshops and/or plenary sessions, participants will explore a variety of topics with professional growth emphasis as well as personal growth. The Fox Valley Technical College (FVTC), Criminal Justice Center for Innovation works together with an advisory board of criminal justice administrative professionals to plan and deliver this annual event. The 2011 conference planning committee is chaired by Kathy Hales, Town of Menasha Police Department and Beth Jasiak, Appleton Police Department.

Who Should Attend

LEAP conferences and training events are open to administrative or executive professionals in public safety, criminal justice, municipal, state, federal, and tribal agencies. Chiefs, sheriffs, law enforcement officers, and government officials are encouraged to attend with their administrative professionals.

Conference Fee

The conference fee is $195. This fee includes 16 hours of training, program materials, instructional costs, lunch on Thursday, refreshment breaks, and conference-related activities. Participants are responsible for costs and arrangements for travel, lodging, and all other meals.

If you are unable to obtain financial support through your agency or community to attend the conference, you may be eligible to apply for a scholarship. For more information regarding scholarship eligibility and criteria, contact FVTC or submit a scholarship application. Scholarship applications must be submitted by April 13, 2011.

Conference & Lodging Location

School Resource Officer Training Conference

June 22-24, 2011 | Appleton, Wisconsin

Did you know? In the 2007-08 school year, over one million crimes occurred in American schools. These crimes included: violent deaths, student and teacher victimization, bullying, illegal substance possession and use, weapon offenses, child maltreatment and exploitation, computer crimes and others.

Conference Description

School law enforcement officers play an integral part in prevention and intervention on school grounds and the entire community by serving not only as police officers but as educators, counselors, mentors, problem-solvers, and community liaisons. Attendees will leave the conference with resources to more effectively carry out these roles as well as maintain successful school-law enforcement collaboration.

This 2½ day conference is designed to provide school law enforcement personnel with up-to-date information on various issues that directly affect the safety of our schools and communities. Participants will learn current trends in addressing school violence through crime prevention as well as modern technologies in law enforcement.

Who Should Attend

- School resource/police school liaison officers
- D.A.R.E. and G.R.E.A.T. officers
- Crime prevention officers
- Campus safety/security officers
- Other interested law enforcement personnel
- School administrators
- School counselors
