MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Official:

Identifying and arresting offenders is the first step in the criminal justice system. Local law enforcement is on the front lines in responding to criminal incidences and conducting most criminal investigations in Wisconsin. The second step is prosecuting offenders. The majority of criminal prosecutions at the state level are advanced by district attorneys' offices. Together, police and prosecutors are critical crime fighters.

The third step is making sure convictions are upheld. My office represents the State in felony appeals, whether the matter is a defendant's appeal from a conviction or our affirmative request to review a circuit court's dismissal of a charge or the suppression of key evidence. Our role is not only to preserve convictions, but also to support appropriate law enforcement techniques when those techniques are the subject of a constitutional challenge.

This month, the Wisconsin Supreme Court concluded its most recent term. During the term, my office achieved significant victories in cases that involved the conduct of law enforcement in connection with a criminal investigation. I believe these decisions properly balanced individual rights with public safety – and the safety of responding officers.

The following are just some of the cases handled by my office this term relevant to law enforcement:

State v. Hamby: This case involved the admissibility of a confession. The Wisconsin Supreme Court agreed with the State that the defendant reinitiated contact with the police after invoking his right to counsel. Accordingly, the police were lawful in resuming the interrogation. The case made clear that the defendant must clearly express his or her right to counsel or right to silence in order to invoke Miranda rights.

State v. Ronald Schaefer: This case involved whether a defendant is entitled to copies of the police reports prior to a preliminary hearing. Agreeing with my office, the Court ruled that the defendant was not entitled to the reports since allowing a defendant to engage in such discovery conflicts with the limited purpose of a preliminary hearing. This decision should minimize premature discovery burdens on law enforcement agencies.

State v. Keith Davis: This case involved an interrogation, which occurred shortly after a lie detector test. The Wisconsin Supreme Court agreed with the state that an interrogation can occur shortly after a lie detector test if the interrogation occurs in a different room from where the test was conducted and the interrogation makes no reference to the test.

State v. Ramon Lopez Arias: This case involved dog sniffs performed during a traffic stop. The Wisconsin Supreme Court held that a dog sniff of the exterior of a vehicle in a public place is not a search within the meaning of the 4th Amendment and the Wisconsin

Constitution, as a person does not have a reasonable expectation of privacy in the air space round a vehicle. Also, the Court agreed with the state and reversed the trial court in holding that a 78 second dog sniff during a traffic stop did not unreasonably extend the stop. Drug sniffing dogs have been a tremendous asset in our fight against drug trafficking, and this decision affirms their appropriate use.

State v. Sumner: This case involved a protective frisk during a lawful traffic stop. The Supreme Court reversed the court of appeals and held that a fifteen minute delay between the stop and the protective frisk – during which time the defendant’s behavior increasingly gave rise to a reasonable suspicion he was armed – does not automatically render a frisk invalid. The Court reasoned that it is possible for the police to develop a reasonable suspicion that a subject is armed and or dangerous during the course of a stop as new factors can develop which changes the situation. The Court also reaffirmed the concept that the police have discretion as to when and if they ask occupants to exit a vehicle during a traffic stop. The Court held that the propriety of a frisk is based on the totality of the circumstances and that the passage of time between police contact and a frisk is just one factor and not a determinative one.

I believe that public safety is the top priority of state and local government. At the Wisconsin Department of Justice (DOJ), we exist to assist law enforcement. Our assistance includes forensic support at the crime labs, investigative support through the Division of Criminal Investigation, and various law enforcement trainings. Just as significant is our support of law enforcement in Wisconsin’s appellate courts. I am proud of the work of the Assistant Attorneys General before the state’s highest court. That’s how we fight crime – by helping you fight crime.

Sincerely,

J.B. Van Hollen
Wisconsin Attorney General

LEGAL POINTS

If you have any comments regarding Legal Points, please contact Dave Perlman, Assistant Attorney General, P.O. Box 7070, Madison, WI 53707-7070, 608/266-1420, fax: 608/266-7869.

State v. Ramon Lopez Arias
Decided by the Wisconsin Supreme Court
July 9th 2008

Issue:

This case involved a canine sniff during a routine traffic stop. Two issues were involved. 1) Whether a dog sniff of the exterior of an automobile is a “search” within the meaning of the Wisconsin Constitution, and 2) Whether a brief delay in the traffic stop to accommodate a dog sniff is an unlawful extension of the traffic detention. The Wisconsin Supreme Court held that a dog sniff of the exterior of a car is not a “search” and held that a brief deviation from a traffic stop to accommodate a dog sniff is permissible.

Facts:

The police stopped a car as the driver was a minor transporting an intoxicant. Four minutes into the stop the officer, who was also a canine officer and had a drug sniffing canine in his squad, ran the dog around the exterior of the vehicle. The dog alerted and the consequent probable cause search of the vehicle uncovered narcotics, which proved to belong to the passenger, Ramon Lopez Arias. The dog sniff itself took approximately 78 seconds to perform.

The Defendant’s Argument:

The defendant argued that the dog sniff was impermissible as it was a search within the meaning of the 4th amendment and the Wisconsin Constitution and the police officer did not have consent or reasonable suspicion of drug activity. Secondly, the defendant argued that even if a dog sniff is not a “search” it was impermissible in this case because it unduly lengthened the traffic stop.

The State’s argument:

The state argued that a dog sniff of the exterior of a car is not a search as it is a minimal intrusion and people do not have an expectation of privacy in the air space around their vehicle. The state further argued that a brief delay to accommodate a dog sniff does not transform a reasonable traffic stop into an unreasonable one.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court holding:

The Wisconsin Supreme Court held that a dog sniff of the exterior of a vehicle in a public place is not a search within the meaning of the 4th Amendment and the Wisconsin Constitution. Therefore, the police do not need consent or reasonable suspicion of drug activity in order to perform a dog sniff. The Court also held that under the totality of the circumstances a 78 second deviation from the purpose of the traffic stop to perform a dog sniff was reasonable. The key was that the police officer worked quickly and efficiently to minimize the delay and that the intrusion was minimal when balanced against the public interest in curtailing drug trafficking.

Note: While this is a good case for law enforcement it should not be exploited. The more substantial the delay is to accommodate a dog sniff the more problematic it will become. So 78 seconds is OK but perhaps 5 to 10 minutes would not be. So if you make a stop, and need to call for a canine, keep working the stop and if the canine arrives in a reasonable time so that the stop is not unduly extended everything should be O.K. If you are a canine officer and the canine is already present you can take a few seconds away from working the stop to perform the dog sniff.

This case does not change the existing protocol for asking consent to search a vehicle in the absence of reasonable suspicion. The safe move remains to first end the traffic stop and then ask for consent. Remember consent to search is different than a dog sniff as a consensual search is a search within the meaning of the 4th amendment.

However, if you have reasonable suspicion of drug activity you can delay a traffic stop for awhile, in some instances for many minutes, to wait for a canine. This case just gives the police a little latitude for doing a dog sniff during a traffic stop without reasonable suspicion.

The 4th Class of Wisconsin POLICE

Twenty-three law enforcement leaders from Wisconsin recently completed the 4th offering of the Wisconsin Problem-Oriented Leadership Institute for Chiefs Executives (POLICE). Attorney General J.B. Van Hollen and Associate Dean David Schultz of the UW-Law School presented participants their certificates on Thursday, July 17. More than 100 police executives have now graduated from this program.

Wisconsin POLICE uses the framework of problem-oriented policing to address the challenges and issues facing today's law enforcement leaders. Lead instructors include Professor Emeritus Herman Goldstein and Clinical Associate Professor Mike Scott from the University of Wisconsin Law School. Professor Goldstein is the founder of the problem-oriented approach to policing in which pieces of police business are closely examined with an eye toward discovering a new and more effective strategy for dealing with the problem.

Sheriff Vogel receives his certificate from the Attorney General

Participants studied local problems and discussed their findings with the group. Chief executives and officers from Wisconsin police agencies presented their problem-solving successes and challenges.

Wisconsin POLICE is held during a two-week period each summer. This management training course is open to Wisconsin Police Chiefs and Sheriffs as part of the Department of Justice's Career Development Training program. POLICE graduates may register their second-in-command so that problem-solving concepts can be carried into the organization.

Dates for the 2009 Wisconsin POLICE course and application information will be posted on WILENET in early 2009.

Incident Summaries

Tucson Police Department (TPD), Arizona, Officer, aged 43 with four years law enforcement experience with agency, was shot on 06/01/2008. Subject was suspected of shooting several dozen rounds into neighbor's home. This resulted in 911 call, which triggered cross-city chase involving Pima County Sheriff's Office (PCSO) deputies and TPD officer(s). During chase and shooting spree initiated by subject, TPD officer received gunshot wound to head. Two PCSO deputies received gunshot wounds; one was shot in shoulder and bullet grazed head of second deputy. After chase covering about 20 miles, subject surrendered to law enforcement officers. Both PCSO deputies were treated and released from hospital. Victim TPD officer succumbed to injuries on 06/02/2008.

Grundey County Sheriff's Office (GCSO), Tennessee, Deputy Sheriff, aged 29 with over two years law enforcement experience with agency, was fatally shot on 06/05/2008. GCSO received tip where fugitive who was wanted for probation violation could be located. At approximately 3:30 a.m., GCSO deputy and reserve deputy, assisted by Monteagle Police Department (MPD) officer, responded to residential location and attempted to arrest subject on probation violation warrant. When GCSO deputy entered bedroom to make arrest, subject fatally shot deputy in head with .38 caliber handgun. Subject fled into wooded area behind residence. Assisting MPD officer gave chase to subject and tripped and fell in darkened yard of residence. Subject retraced his steps and fired several rounds to MPD officer, who received non-fatal wound to chest. GCSO reserve deputy called for assistance and emergency aid. Subject obtained clothing and shoes from associated and was known to be armed with .38 caliber handgun, 12-gauge shotgun, and possibly victim deputy's 9-millimeter handgun. Extensive investigation conducted by state, local, and federal law enforcement officers from three states eventually located subject in wooded area. Attempts to negotiate surrender were unsuccessful. At approximately 6:55 p.m., subject used .38 caliber handgun to shoot himself in head. Subject was transported to local hospital in critical condition. Wounded MPD officer was treated and released from hospital.

Fredericksburg Police Department, Virginia, Officer, aged 40 with two years law enforcement experience with agency, was fatally shot on 06/06/2008 after responding to domestic violence complaint. At approximately 11 p.m., victim officer was found deceased with single gunshot wound to head. When responding officers arrived, gun battle ensued between officers and subject. Subject, armed with rifle, reloaded during confrontation but was subsequently fatally shot during exchange of gunfire.

Yolo County Sheriff's Department (YCSD), California, Deputy Sheriff, aged 37 with four years law enforcement service with agency, was fatally shot at approximately 9:30 p.m. on 06/15/2008. After deputy executed traffic stop, subject fled on foot from vehicle. Since deputy observed infant inside subject's vehicle, he did not pursue subject. Subject returned to vehicle and ambushed victim deputy, shooting him in chest with .223 caliber firearm. Victim deputy was airlifted to medical center where he succumbed to injuries. At about 8 a.m. on 06/16/2008, subject was located hiding in shrubbery during multi-agency SWAT sweep and was arrested without incident.

North Carolina Highway Patrol, Asheville, Trooper, aged 24, with two years law enforcement experience with agency was fatally shot on 06/17/2008. At approximately 10:20 p.m., trooper performed traffic stop for registration violation. Trooper approached subject's vehicle and directed subject to step out of vehicle. Both trooper and subject walked to right front fender of patrol unit. Trooper began his investigative interview by asking subject if he would mind being frisked. Subject asked what frisking was and trooper informed subject it was to check for weapons. Subject responded that he had a firearm at which time a physical confrontation began resulting with subject shooting victim trooper three times with 9 mm handgun. Victim trooper, who was wearing body armor, received wounds to front and rear upper torso area and arms/hands. Fatal round entered upper body area not protected by body armor. After stealing victim trooper's firearm, subject fled scene. Victim trooper was transported to hospital where he died from gunshot wounds. Numerous 911 calls were received from witnesses, which led to subject's apprehension a short distance from incident scene.

The growing threat of sexual exploitation crimes committed against children through the Internet is a disturbing and unacceptable trend. As technology advances and as the Internet becomes more accessible, the number of computer-facilitated sexual exploitation crimes committed against children is increasing.

Project Safe Childhood's goal is to facilitate a coordinated partnership among the public and private entities involved in Internet safety and the prevention of child exploitation, and to enhance the response to this growing threat to America's youth.

This conference will bring together key stakeholders from federal, state, and local government as well as non-governmental organizations to build partnerships and to engage in strategic planning and training on Internet safety.

This multi-disciplinary conference is intended for front-line individuals such as:

Law enforcement, Prosecutors, Victim Advocates,
Probation/Parole Officers, and
Individuals who work with children in a school environment such as Teachers, School Liaison Officers, and Guidance Counselors

Budget Crunch? Stretch Your Resources with Trained Humane Officer

By Dr. Yvonne Bellay

How much does an animal complaint cost you? How many do you get every year? And how much spare money does your budget have?

If you're like most law enforcement agencies, the answer to the first two questions is "plenty," and the answer to the last question is "none and shrinking."

We think we can help on all three counts. Invest $500 in humane officer training, and save time and resources by handling animal complaints more efficiently and more effectively because you'll have access to the specialized knowledge and skills that animal cases demand. You'll know when you have a case and when an owner just needs some education. And if all that happens, you'll avoid some or all the bad publicity that often comes with animal cases.

You might even save lives; too often when we find animal abuse, we also find human abuse now or later.

We offer the 40-hour training course every fall in Madison, working with the University of Missouri-Columbia's Law Enforcement Training Institute. This year the course will run Sept. 22-26, but we need registration by Aug. 22 so we can make final arrangements.

As sworn law officers, you of course can investigate these cases without the additional training and certification. But you're likely to find real value in learning the ins and outs of animal law; it's more than just reading the statute. Training in animal husbandry and specialized evidence collection can help officers conduct animal investigations more efficiently and effectively. Law officers who have taken humane officer training in the past have brought an important set of skills and viewpoints to the other trainees, but they've commented that they've taken away a great deal of new knowledge, too. And you can apply the training to your continuing education requirement.

We bring in veterinarians, attorneys, and officers with years of experience in investigating animal cases for classroom training. Past trainees have given rave reviews not only for the depth and scope of knowledge these folks bring, but also for their personable and humorous styles. Next we take participants to the barns at the University of Wisconsin-Madison for hands-on training, another feature that past students say makes the week well worth their time.

The class covers:

- The animal investigator's role
- Rules of evidence
- Rules of search and seizure
- Civil liability
- Wisconsin animal law
- Facility standards
- Evaluation of cruelty
- Nutrition
- Body conditioning and scoring
- Pet shop investigations
- Photography and sketching
- Crime scene procedures and evidence collection
- Interview and interrogation
- Report writing
- Courtroom testimony
- Crisis intervention and officer safety

Again, we need registrations by Aug. 22. You should receive a registration brochure in the mail, or just get in touch with us: call 608-224-4889 or e-mail gena.goldade@wisconsin.gov. You can also get the details and download a registration form on our web site: <http://www.datcp.state.wi.us/ah/agriculture/animals/welfare/humane-officer/index.jsp>.

Past course evaluations tell us this training will be worth the time and money. In fact, you can't really afford not to send someone.

Dr. Yvonne Bellay is a veterinarian and the state humane officer with the Animal Health Division of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection.
