MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Colleague,

The Crime Information Bureau will be hosting its 14th annual CIB Conference September 11th-13th in Green Bay. The conference attracts more than 300 law enforcement and first responder attendees from all corners of the state. This year's training features sessions on Sovereign Citizens-Understanding the Threat, the Casey Anthony Murder Investigation in Florida, Stress Management for Dispatchers, and Active Shooters in Schools and Public Places.

Other highlights from the three-day conference include segments on Human Trafficking, Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR), the Wisconsin Justice Gateway (WIJIS), Audits 103: Best Practices, Interoperability, Is your TAC Sharp?, Synthetic Drugs, Trends in Child Exploitation, Public Records, and Media Relations.

Information gathered from the conference can be beneficial to attendees with direct and indirect access to law enforcement information. The CIB Conference also has proven to be an excellent opportunity for the Department of Justice to receive input from attendees on how we can continue to improve by working together. Vendors also will be on site with the latest law enforcement technologies and trends. Participants can register online at the Department of Justice website under the Crime Information Bureau, CIB Conference attendee registration page.

The Crime Information Bureau is continuing to work on several projects to enhance the information available to our customers in both the public and private sectors. In August and September, CIB will be testing a new web-based background check system for the purchase and transfer of handguns in the State of Wisconsin through federal firearms licensed dealers.

As you may be aware, 2013 Wisconsin Act 20 transferred many law enforcement programs from the Office of Justice Assistance (OJA) to DOJ's Division of Law Enforcement Services (DLES). As a part of DLES, CIB has been assigned responsibility for the UCR, WIJIS, and interoperability programs. We are excited to begin work on these programs and fully understand the value they bring to our law enforcement partners. We are earnestly conducting a review process to identify programmatic efficiencies, insert necessary accountability, and streamline communications with our end users. The CIB Conference offers an excellent opportunity for attendees to gain insight into potential programmatic changes, offer feedback, or simply gain knowledge about an unfamiliar program. I look forward to seeing you there. Thank you.

Sincerely,

*J.B. Van Hollen
Attorney General*

State v. Edler Decided by the Wisconsin Supreme Court- July 12th, 2013

Issues:

Whether the Shatzer rule, allowing the police to re-contact a person who had previously invoked their Miranda right to a lawyer but had been released from custody for 14 continuous days, should be the law in Wisconsin under the Wisconsin Constitution. The Wisconsin Supreme Court held that the Shatzer rule is to be adopted by Wisconsin. The second issue is whether the statement “can my lawyer be present for this”, is a clear invocation of the Miranda right to counsel. The court held that it was.

Facts:

The police had previously arrested the defendant and the defendant had invoked his Miranda right to counsel during a custodial interrogation. The defendant hired a lawyer and was then released from custody. Nineteen days after the defendant’s release from custody, the defendant was arrested on a new charge. During transport to the police station for an interrogation on the new charge, the defendant asked the police; “Can my lawyer be present for this?”, and it is understood by all the parties that “this” referred to the upcoming custodial interrogation. The police told the defendant that his attorney could be present and nothing more was said about the subject.

At the police station the police read the defendant his Miranda rights; the defendant waived his rights and made several incriminating statements. Ultimately the trial court threw out these statements reasoning that the police should not have interrogated the defendant since he had invoked his Miranda right to an attorney during transport to the interrogation.

The State’s Position:

The state appealed arguing that the defendant’s statements about counsel were too ambiguous to count as an invocation. Consequently, the police were free to read the defendant his rights and to question him upon waiver.

The Defendant’s Position:

The defendant argued that he had invoked his right to counsel during transport to the interrogation. The defendant also argued that the police should not have even considered an interrogation in the first place since he had clearly invoked his right to counsel 19 days earlier; the defendant urged the court to reject the Shatzer 14 day rule for Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court Holding:

The Wisconsin Supreme Court first embraced the Shatzer 14 day rule as compatible with the Wisconsin Constitution. Therefore, since the police arrested the defendant nineteen days after the defendant’s release from custody, the police were free to again try to interrogate the defendant. However, the high court agreed with the defendant that his statement, “can my lawyer be present for this” was sufficiently clear to constitute a new invocation of his Miranda right to counsel and blocked the police from seeking to interrogate him, once they arrived at the station. A key for the court was the defendant’s young age, 18 and the fact that the defendant already had an attorney, so asking whether that attorney could attend the new interrogation was the same as saying that he wanted his attorney present.

Impact for Wisconsin:

This is what we now know for sure; 1) the Shatzer 14 day rule is now also the Wisconsin 14 day rule. This gives clarity to the police on the issue, 2) a defendant can invoke his Miranda right to counsel even before being read the rights if he/she is in custody and an interrogation is imminent, and 3) whether a defendant clearly invokes his Miranda right or not, is based on the totality of the circumstances.

Hint:

It is probably a best police practice to seek clarification of a defendant's intent when the defendant is in custody, an interrogation is imminent, and the defendant makes reference to an attorney which leads you unsure if they are invoking or not. Also, a phrase such as "Can I have an Attorney", or "Can my attorney be there" will likely be considered an invocation as "Can I" often means "I want" in today's parlance. However, as before, phrases like "Do you think I need a lawyer", "Wait till my lawyer hears about this" etc. remain ambiguous and not an assertion of the Miranda right to an attorney.

Upon arrival at scene, subject who was suspected sexual assault perpetrator was at home of his alleged victim. Sergeant confronted subject and checked him for weapons, however, subject pulled out firearm and shot Sergeant in head. Subject then fled scene but was located in downtown area where he was surrounded by Law Enforcement Officials. Subject engaged in violent altercation with Law Enforcement Officers and was fatally wounded during gunfire exchange. Victim Sergeant was flown to hospital and succumbed to his wounds on 6/29/2013.

Killeen Police Department (KPD), Texas,
Police Officer, aged 32, with over 4 years' Law Enforcement experience with agency, was shot on 7/13/2013. KPD Patrol Officers responded to apartment complex to investigate armed subject call. Upon arrival, Officers observed subject, who appeared to be carrying AK-47 style rifle, enter apartment. Subject refused to comply with officers' demands to disarm. Due to subject being armed with rifle and refusing to comply with officers' demands, KPD SWAT Team was summoned to scene. Initial SWAT Officers at scene quickly established reactionary team while awaiting arrival of full SWAT compliment. Subject began taunting officers indicating he would exit apartment and begin shooting after countdown. After counting down, subject fired one round through apartment's doorway and further taunted officers. At one point, subject exited apartment, however, officers did not see him with rifle. Two SWAT officers fired taser at subject in attempt to take him into custody. Subject, apparently unaffected by tasers, fell back into apartment and obtained rifle. Believing tasers caused subject to fall, officers began to enter apartment in attempt to take subject into custody. Subsequently, subject fired approximately 25 rounds at officers. SWAT officers returned gunfire resulting in subject's death. Subject's gunfire struck two SWAT officers. Round struck one Victim Officer in arm, traveled through chest cavity, and exited near collar bone. Second Victim Officer was wounded in upper left leg. ## SUBMIT A LAW ENFORCEMENT MEMBER FOR RECOGNITION

Law enforcement officers, jailors, and juvenile detention personnel work tirelessly day-in and day-out to serve and protect our citizens. All too often their daily performance is taken for granted and only becomes newsworthy when something extraordinary happens.

The Department of Justice (DOJ) would like to recognize and provide a format for agencies and peers to recognize law enforcement officers, jailors, and juvenile detention officers who exhibit exceptional commitment, dedicated community service, and ethical leadership on a daily basis as they perform their duties. While many awards exist to recognize exceptional service, the so called "routine efforts" can sometimes go unnoticed.

DOJ would like to start featuring these dedicated public servants in the Law Enforcement Bulletin. If you are interested in participating in this great recognition opportunity please submit a candidate through the electronic form now available in the Law Enforcement Bulletin section of WILENET.

On the submission form you will have the opportunity to provide a short bio of the individual and share a story or provide an example of the extra effort, kindness, or creativity that your member shows in their work on a daily basis. A photo of the individual and/or the agency logo is also encouraged. Submissions will be excepted from front-line supervisors or higher and will be reviewed by DOJ staff. The support of our criminal justice partners will make this a successful endeavor and provide some well-deserved recognition to those in the field.
