MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Season's Greeting:

This is the time of year when we often look back and reflect on our accomplishments and our blessings.

One of the accomplishments of which we can all be proud is the addition of 31 new DNA positions in our Crime Laboratory System. With the support of law enforcement organizations and officers throughout the state, the legislature and Governor approved my request for 31 new positions. Those positions have been filled and the new analysts are currently in training. By June 2008, they will have the expertise necessary to do case work and provide expert testimony in your cases.

In Wisconsin, one of the blessings we enjoy is the strong, professional working relationship that exists in our law enforcement community. Acquiring the DNA analysts is just one example of the good that results from such a relationship. I am proud and honored to be a part of such a profession and I look forward to continuing that strong partnership in 2008.

I wish each of you and your families a Happy Holiday Season and a safe New Year.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "J.B. Van Hollen". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

*J.B. Van Hollen
Wisconsin Attorney General*

State v. Nieves
2007 WI App 189
Decided by the Court of Appeals- August 28, 2007

Introduction:

This case deals with when an officer can arrest a person for obstruction because of a name given during a traffic stop. The case also reiterates that under Wisconsin law a person can not be arrested solely for a seatbelt violation.

Facts:

The police observed a Chevrolet Suburban parked in a driveway with its motor running and its lights off. The vehicle's plates checked to a Herman Batteast, who the police knew had been involved in drug dealings in the past and checked to a vehicle different to the one they had observed. Shortly thereafter the police observed the Chevrolet Suburban, whose plates checked to Batteast, pull alongside a Taurus and the police saw a person get out of the Taurus and go inside the Suburban. Eventually the Taurus took off again and the officer noted that the Taurus had very darkened tinted windows in violation of state regulations.

The officers stopped the Taurus and made contact with the driver who they recognized from prior contacts to be a person who had been involved in drug dealing, and the officer further noted that neither the driver nor the passenger had been wearing their seat belts. The officer then asked the passenger (defendant –whose real name is Pedro Nieves) for identification and the passenger told the officer that while he did not have identification his name was Anthony Otero from Chicago. The officer ran a computer check for Anthony Otero but the name did not come back on file. The officer arrested the defendant and the subsequent search incident to arrest yielded cocaine.

The Defendant's Argument:

The defendant did not challenge the legality of the stop but did argue that he should not have been arrested for the innocuous charge of a seatbelt violation and since he should not have been arrested the search incident to that arrest was unlawful and the evidence that the search generated should be revoked.

The State's Argument:

The state argued that prior to the defendant's arrest the police had probable cause that the defendant had obstructed the officer by giving a false identification.

The Court of Appeals Holding:

The Court of Appeals felt that under the totality of the circumstances there was sufficient probable cause to arrest the defendant for obstruction. The salient factors were as follows: 1) The officer had noticed that the Suburban had plates that checked to a different vehicle and whose owner was a known drug dealer. The Suburban had stopped near the Taurus and someone from the Taurus went inside the Suburban. 2) The driver of the Taurus was a known drug dealer. 3) The officer was unable to verify the identity provided to him by the defendant. 4) The officer knew from his prior experiences that people sometimes give false names when they have outstanding warrants and considering the circumstances upon which he encountered the defendant he reasonably believed that was what was occurring in this case.

Accordingly, the court of appeals felt that under the circumstances it was reasonable for the officer to conclude that the defendant was intentionally obstructing the police when he gave the name of Anthony Otero and there was no such name on file. Thus the arrest was valid and the subsequent search incident to that arrest was lawful.

Note: Keep in mind that sometimes there may be innocent explanations as to why a name provided to the police yields no results when run through the data base. However an officer is not required to draw a reasonable inference that favors innocence when there is also a reasonable inference that favors probable cause. Obviously the context upon which the name was offered is critical to the analysis.

Warning: The Court reiterated that pursuant to Wisconsin Statute 347.48(2m) (gm) the police can not arrest a person solely for a seat belt violation.

ATTENTION NEW LAW ENFORCEMENT ADMINISTRATORS

Are you a new chief? If so, you are cordially invited to attend the 2008 New Chief's Training Seminar, hosted by the Department of Justice, Training and Standards Bureau. This seminar is geared specifically to new administrators who have not previously held a chief executive position.

The seminar will begin at 1:00 pm Monday, January 28 and conclude at noon on Friday, February 1, 2008 in Madison at the Crowne Plaza. Topics germane to new administrators will be covered. Please refer to the tentative agenda provided.

To enroll for this seminar, simply register online via WILENET. If lodging arrangements are necessary, be sure to call the Crowne Plaza at (608) 244-4703 no later than January 1, 2008 to request a room under the block held for the New Chief's Training Seminar.

There is no charge for registration, lodging (Monday – Friday) or lunches (Tuesday – Thursday) during this seminar. These expenses will be underwritten by the DOJ. However, upon check in, you will be asked to provide a credit card number for incidental costs, (such as phone calls, movies or upgraded room accommodations). Dress is business casual.

This seminar meets criteria for award of 2 undergraduate elective credits in UW Platteville Criminal Justice program. Participants interested in pursuing this educational opportunity must submit a portfolio with reflective journaling following the criteria established in the notebook assessment rubric. Credits will be awarded after admission to the university and a certificate of completion is provided by DOJ. There will be no charge or fee except those associated with admission to the university.

Hopefully your schedule will permit you to participate in this productive and informative training seminar. If you have any questions, concerns or special needs, please feel free to contact the seminar coordinator, Barbara Miller at 608/267-4582.

Wisconsin DMV Announces Registration And Title Fee Increases

The 2007 – 2009 Wisconsin state biennial budget changed the title fee (original title and title transfer) and most registration fees.

Title Fees – The title fee increase from $45.00 to $69.50 is effective January 2, 2008. (The fee for a replacement title remains $20.)

Registration Fees – New registration fees for autos and light trucks are listed below and are also effective January 2, 2008. Most registration fees for buses, trucks, truck tractors and trailers increased by thirty percent, rounded off to the nearest dollar.

The DOT website will soon have a complete list of updated title and registration fees at: www.wisconsinDMV.gov.

Wisconsin DMV Updates Vehicle Record Displays On TIME

The Wisconsin DMV will make updates requested by the Department of Justice to the TIME System effective Sunday, December 2, 2007. The TIME Manual will also be updated to reflect these changes:

- Unpaid Parking Ticket (TVRP) Details to be added:
 - Amount of the ticket due
 - Name of the issuing municipality
 - Phone number of the issuing municipality

Note: Municipalities must be contacted directly for up-to-date information because not all unpaid tickets are reported to DMV. The amount of the ticket often increases over time due to non-payment. DMV records do not reflect those increases. This information will display at the bottom of the record so it can be torn off and given to the driver.
- OWI Sanctions will be displayed below the vehicle description:
 - OWI_SANCTION:IID REQUIRED
 - OWI_SANCTION:IMMOBILIZE VEHICLE
 - OWI_SANCTION:SEIZE VEHICLE
- Multiple Vehicle Brands will display only current brands in chronological order with the most recent brand at the top of the list.
- Vehicle JUNKED Indicator will display at the top of the record:
 - VEH_STA:JUNKED
- Driver identification number (DID) will display after the name and date of birth (DOB) of a vehicle owner, lessee, and driver.
- Temporary license plate (TMP) information will be expanded. For example, if a temporary plate is allocated to a dealership, the display will indicate there is no vehicle associated with this plate and will include the name, address and phone number of the dealership. Law enforcement can then contact the dealership directly for the name and address of the customer to whom they issued the plate.
- Tribal license plate owner information will display name, address, DOB and DID of person to whom the plate is registered along with the name of the issuing tribal nation. There is no vehicle description associated with this plate record. Inquire by VIN to get vehicle owner name and address information.

Wisconsin DMV Creates New Recreational Vehicle Trailer Plate

2007 Act 11 created the definition of Recreational Vehicle (Chap 340.01(48r)) and removes terminology for Mobile Home, effective January 1, 2008. The Division of Motor Vehicle plans to create a new plate to replace the current mobile home plate. Basically, this law results in a change of plate design and name. Listed below are the details:

- Future registration for Recreation Vehicle trailers will be known as RV Trailer.
- New RV Trailer plates will look similar to the School Bus plate.
 - "Sailing Farmer" design
 - 4 or 5 digit number followed by RV (stacked letters). The series will begin with the number 1001 and expand to 99999, followed by RV.
 - "RV TRAILER" shown on bottom of plate
- On January 1, 2008 issuance of new RV Trailer plates will begin. After that date the Mobile Home plates will no longer be issued.
- Existing green on white Mobile Home plates will continue to be valid and will receive stickers as usual upon renewal in April 2008. "MH" will continue to be part of the plate number for these old style plates.
- The RV Trailer plate will be used for both the uncollapsible recreation vehicle trailers and the pop-up camping trailers, just like the Mobile Home plate has been.
- Registration continues to be optional for collapsible camping trailers if the gross weight doesn't exceed 3000 lbs and if not used for hire or rental.
- The registration fees are unchanged for the RV Trailer registration.
- Law enforcement will continue to use "TL" to query the RV Trailer plate on the TIME System.

St. Croix County Wheel Tax Effective January 1, 2008

The County of St. Croix adopted a $10 wheel tax ordinance as authorized under Wisconsin State Statute Section 341.35 and Administrative Code 126. The St. Croix County wheel tax applies to automobiles and motor trucks registered at a gross weight of 8,000 pounds or less with a registration type of AUTOMOBILE, DUAL PURPOSE VEHICLE OR LIGHT TRUCK.

The tax is due at the time a vehicle is first registered by the Wisconsin DMV and at the time of registration renewal beginning with January 2008 expirations if the vehicle is customarily kept in the county of St. Croix.
