Dear Law Enforcement Colleague –

The end of 2015 was a busy time within the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) program in the State of Wisconsin and there are numerous enhancements planned for 2016. The Department of Justice, Division of Law Enforcement Services, through the Bureau of Justice Information and Analysis (BJIA), continued to make significant enhancements to the UCR program, which serves as the primary source for statewide crime and arrest statistics, as reported by local law enforcement. As mentioned in the September Law Enforcement Bulletin, all Summary-Based Reporting (SBR) agencies have now transitioned to reporting their monthly crime and arrest data online. This is allowing the UCR program to refocus resources toward data verification and publication. We will be following up with agencies on a regular basis to ensure that monthly reports are entered by the 15th of the following month and will also be contacting agencies with identified data inconsistencies or potential data quality issues. Please keep in mind that the new SBR online system does check for common data errors so please ensure your monthly submissions have a green check mark indicating that there are no outstanding errors to be resolved. The BJIA was recently awarded a 2015 State Justice Statistics (SJS) grant, which will be used during 2016 to support the continued development of data quality reports and a data verification process within the UCR program.

The UCR program also completed a Quality Assurance Review (QAR) from the FBI, which involved participation from 10 local law enforcement agencies to review the coding of a sample of reported offenses and arrests. Overall the results of the QAR were relatively positive for both the state and local agencies and the few issues that were identified will be used to support training efforts for local agencies during 2016. To this end, the UCR Program recently surveyed agencies to gather information on what would be most useful in terms of UCR training. Based on the input from the survey, a series of training sessions are being scheduled for 2016 to cover both Summary-Based and Incident-Based Reporting (IBR). Please watch for additional information coming soon regarding the dates, times, locations, and focus of the training sessions.

The Wisconsin Incident-Based Reporting System (WIBRS) has also undergone changes in recent months. The BJIA recently launched an updated WIBRS web application that is intended to improve the experience of local agencies when uploading their monthly IBR submissions. The new site is easier to use, automatically processes files on a daily basis, and provides agencies with more timely and useful reports regarding their monthly submission. The next phase in this project will add new interactive charts and reports that will allow agencies to analyze their WIBRS data based on trends over time, victim and suspect demographics, and characteristics of the offenses such as location, time of day, day of week, and related factors. It is also important to note that the FBI and other federal partners are working to expand incident-based reporting at a national level. To support this effort, the BJIA was also recently awarded a planning grant under the National Crime Statistics Exchange (NCS-X) project to evaluate the impact this may have on the Wisconsin UCR program and local law enforcement agencies. As we are working through this planning effort, we will be sharing additional information with local agencies and will also be gathering information on the needs and challenges faced by local law enforcement in transitioning to IBR. If your agency is interested in transitioning to WIBRS, please contact the BJIA at statsanalysis@doj.state.wi.us.

Looking ahead, the BJIA is focusing on improving the accuracy and timeliness of data submissions, providing training to law enforcement agencies, and making data more available to local agencies and the community. To increase the accessibility of UCR data, the BJIA recently purchased a new software tool that will facilitate publishing data in a more visual and interactive format including graphs, tables, and maps. This new tool will replace the Justice Data Portal, which is an aging online application that is no longer supported by current internet browsers, and will also allow data to be updated more dynamically rather than relying on static tables updated on an annual basis. The initial launch of this new tool is scheduled for the first quarter of 2016. This new tool will also increase the importance of timely reporting from local agencies and we appreciate the work that law enforcement agencies put into providing their UCR data on a monthly basis. Thank you for your continued support of the UCR program as we undergo additional program changes and enhancements. Your continued commitment to providing accurate and timely crime and arrest information is key to supporting data-driven decision making and policies, with a focus on reducing crime and victimization in the State of Wisconsin.

Very truly yours,

Brad D. Schimel
Attorney General
State v. Dumstrey
Decided by the Wisconsin Supreme Court 01/15/2016

• A few months ago I provided an update on this case as it was decided by the Court of Appeals. The case has now been reviewed and affirmed by the Wisconsin Supreme Court. Below are the findings.

Issue:
Whether a person has a reasonable expectation of privacy in a private, remote control operated, communal underground parking garage. The Wisconsin Supreme Court held that this area was not curtilage and therefore a police warrantless entry into the area was not a 4th amendment intrusion. And the court also held that Dumstrey did not have a reasonable expectation of privacy in the parking garage area.

Facts:
An off-duty police officer was driving home for a Brewer game. During this ride the officer observed the defendant driving very erratically, speeding and tailgating, and lane hopping. Based on these observations the off duty officer called the police department and reported his observations. At a traffic light the officer stopped his vehicle right alongside the defendant’s vehicle and made eye contact with the defendant. The defendant appeared very sleepy looking and his eyes appeared glassy. The officer showed the defendant his badge and told the defendant to pull over. Initially the defendant complied and pulled over but then he took off and the off-duty officer pursued. The ensuing pursuit took the parties to an apartment complex and through a parking lot before the defendant entered his parking garage through the remote controlled door. The officer parked his car partway through the remote controlled door opening so that the door could not close. The officer entered the garage and made contact with Dumstrey at which point an on duty officer, who had been dispatched in response to the off-duty officer notifications, arrived on the scene and eventually the defendant was arrested for OWI.

The defendant argued that he had a privacy interest in his remote controlled underground parking garage. He argued that it constituted curtilage to his apartment and therefore the officer’s warrantless non-consensual entry into the garage was a violation of his 4th amendment rights. The defendant also argued that the officer’s entry into his garage area was a trespass and therefore automatically should result in the suppression of any evidence the trespass generated.

The State’s Argument:
The state argued that the garage was not curtilage since there were 29 other parking stalls. Therefore despite the remote controlled entry, such a communal area is not a privacy zone within the meaning of the 4th amendment. Also, the state argued that a trespass only triggers suppression if the trespass is to a 4th amendment privacy zone.

The Court Opinion:
The Wisconsin high court agreed with the state and held that the off-duty officer’s entry into the garage area did not violate the 4th amendment. The court held that a communal underground parking area is not curtilage, and also is not an area where a person would reasonably feel they have an expectation of privacy.
In finding that the parking lot was not curtilage the court applied the well known Dunn test for determining whether an area is curtilage or open fields. The four pronged test is 1) proximity of the area to the home. Here the court felt that there no real proximity since it was a hallway and an elevator ride from the garage to Dumstrey's home. 2) Whether the area is enclosed. The court found that while the area was enclosed, this factor is not that significant when there are 29 other stalls within the same enclosure. 3) The nature of the use. The court found that the sole purpose of the garage was to accommodate parking and that is not an intimate family activity. 4) Protection from observation. The court reasoned that while the area is not open to public view, each stall was easily observable by all thirty of the tenants. Therefore, using the Dunn test the court found the lot was not curtilage.

The Court also opined that the defendant did not have an expectation of privacy in the area since he had no dominion of control and no right to control the behavior of the other 29 residents occupying the same lot. Consequently, the high court ruled that the seizure did not occur after a warrantless entry into a constitutionally protected area.

Cautionary Notes:

This opinion does not mean that the police could smash down the garage door or somehow tamper with the security mechanisms; as such conduct would not be viewed as reasonable. Also, keep in mind that this case was not viewed as a fleeing scenario, as it is unreasonable to expect someone to pull over merely over the presentation of a badge by a non-uniformed officer in his personal vehicle. Accordingly, the officer only had reasonable suspicion of OWI to justify an intrusion and that would not be sufficient to make entry into a home or its curtilage. Here, the police did not need a 4th amendment justification as the entry into the communal parking lot was not a 4th amendment event.

Finally, the court left open the possibility that a much smaller more intimate communal parking lot might trigger a different result.
December 8, 2015

As of January 1, 2016, the Wisconsin Crime Laboratory Bureau (part of the Wisconsin Dept. of Justice) will no longer be accepting cases and evidence/standards for Tire Track Analysis. As our ongoing mission to best serve law enforcement agencies in the State of Wisconsin, we are dedicated to ensuring our criminal justice customers have access to this service and will accomplish that by transitioning these cases to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Crime Laboratory in Quantico, VA, as many states have already chosen to do. The FBI Crime Laboratory in Quantico has agreed to work Tire Track Analysis cases that you would normally send to the Crime Labs in Wisconsin.

The change in policy is a result of the steady decline in tire track analysis cases submitted to the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory and pending retirements of trained examiners in this discipline. All pending cases that have been submitted will be processed by the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory. All future cases need to be submitted to the FBI Crime Laboratory.

For information on how to submit evidence to the FBI Crime Lab, please visit https://www.fbi.gov/about-us/lab/scientific-analysis/qdu. In the lower right hand corner under “More About Us”, please select “Forensic Services Handbook”, which are the submission guidelines for the FBI Crime Lab. In general, the FBI accepts evidence from state and local law enforcement agencies for cases related to violent crime investigations. The FBI does not routinely accept evidence from state and local law enforcement agencies in cases involving property crimes unless there was personal injury or intent to cause personal injury. There is a step-by-step guide on how to submit evidence to the FBI Crime Lab in this handbook.

The Crime Laboratories in Wisconsin are not permitted to be the “middle-man” for submission, or submitters ourselves; thus all evidence needs to be submitted directly to the FBI Crime Lab in Quantico. The FBI Tire Tread Analysis Unit is located within the Questioned Documents Unit, and questions concerning tire tread evidence should be directed to the FBI Crime Lab at 703-632-8444 (after January 1, 2016).

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Wisconsin Crime Laboratory Bureau Director Jana Champion at championjl@doj.state.wi.us. Thank you for your patience and cooperation during this transition period.

A LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER YOU SHOULD KNOW

SUBMIT A LAW ENFORCEMENT MEMBER FOR RECOGNITION

Law enforcement officers, jailors, and juvenile detention personnel work tirelessly day-in and day-out to serve and protect our citizens. All too often their daily performance is taken for granted and only becomes newsworthy when something extraordinary happens.

The Department of Justice (DOJ) would like to recognize and provide a format for agencies and peers to recognize law enforcement officers, jailors, and juvenile detention officers who exhibit exceptional commitment, dedicated community service, and ethical leadership on a daily basis as they perform their duties. While many awards exist to recognize exceptional service, the so called “routine efforts” can sometimes go unnoticed.

DOJ would like to start featuring these dedicated public servants in the Law Enforcement Bulletin. If you are interested in participating in this great recognition opportunity please submit a candidate through the electronic form now available in the Law Enforcement Bulletin section of WILENET.

On the submission form you will have the opportunity to provide a short bio of the individual and share a story or provide an example of the extra effort, kindness, or creativity that your member shows in their work on a daily basis. A photo of the individual and/or the agency logo is also encouraged. Submissions will be excepted from front-line supervisors or higher and will be reviewed by DOJ staff. The support of our criminal justice partners will make this a successful endeavor and provide some well-deserved recognition to those in the field.
