MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Colleague –

The Wisconsin Department of Justice's (DOJ) Sexual Assault Kit Initiative (WiSAKI) is a statewide effort to address the accumulation of previously unsubmitted sexual assault kits in the possession of local law enforcement agencies and hospitals. DOJ was awarded federal grant funding from the U.S. Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA) and the District Attorney of New York to test these unsubmitted sexual assault kits, develop a process to prevent the future accumulation of kits, and create a multi-disciplinary team to support the investigation and prosecution of these cases, and address the needs of survivors.

Overview of WiSAKI

Under this project, a statewide inventory was conducted of unsubmitted sexual assault kits at law enforcement agencies and hospitals statewide. Through this process, more than 6,000 unsubmitted kits were identified, and approximately 4,000 of those kits are currently designated for testing. The Wisconsin State Crime Lab (WSCL) has received nearly all of these kits and kits are being sent to one of three contracted external labs for testing. Outsourcing the DNA analysis for the unsubmitted kits will ensure that the WSCL can continue to analyze evidence submitted for your current investigations.

Resources After Testing is Complete

As the testing on previously unsubmitted kits is completed, agencies are being notified of the results. If a foreign DNA profile is found, the agency will also receive additional information regarding resources available through DOJ to assist in the investigation and prosecution of these cases. After the contracted labs perform the initial testing on submitted kits, any additional follow-up DNA testing necessary for investigation of a case, or for future trial needs, will be conducted by the WSCL through subsequent communication and an agency's needs on a case-by-case basis. DOJ has special agents and prosecutors at the ready to assist with these cases fulltime, and we hope your agency will utilize these resources.

We respectfully request that law enforcement agencies refrain from destroying any sexual assault kits in their possession until this initiative is complete. The Bureau of Justice Information and Analysis (BJIA) at DOJ, through the SAKI Sexual Assault Response Team, will be working with agencies to collect additional data as these cases move through the process from victim notification, through investigation and prosecution. We appreciate your continued support as we move forward!

Media/Public Record Information

There has been significant media attention on the SAKI project and this is likely to continue. Some local agencies have even received public records or information requests asking for their kit inventory. DOJ has also received numerous requests for WiSAKI-related information and we have carefully considered each request by attempting to strike a balance between the privacy protections survivors deserve, integrity of cases, public interest, and open government. This balancing test has resulted in DOJ withholding some information for the time being, because pending, closed, or cold cases could potentially be reopened and turned into active investigations as the result of new evidence from kit testing. Releasing the details of these cases could potentially impact the investigations. The DOJ Office of Open Government is available to discuss our approach in handling these requests and is available as a resource to local law enforcement agencies. All agencies are encouraged to seek advice or guidance when they receive a records request related to the WiSAKI project.

To find out more information about WiSAKI, go to <https://wisaki.doj.wi.gov/>. The website includes an overview of the project, frequently asked questions, data and results, resources, monthly updates on how many kits have been tested, and other news about SAKI and the Attorney General's Sexual Assault Response Team (AG SART). Agencies are encouraged to check the website frequently. If you have any questions about the SAKI project, please reach out to the team at wisaki@doj.state.wi.us.

Thank you and your agency for your continued support of this project. Together, we can deliver justice to survivors of sexual assault.

Very truly yours,

*Brad D. Schimel
Attorney General*

LEGAL POINTS

State of Wisconsin v. Frederick S. Smith Decided by the Wisconsin Supreme Court- January 9, 2018

Issue:

The court looked at what the police can do when they make a lawful stop but the reasonable suspicion dissipates before they make contact with the driver. The court opined that, pursuant to the lawful stop, the police are entitled to the basic actions taken during any routine traffic stop; such as asking for the driver's license and checking out the driving record.

Facts:

The police observed a vehicle in a high crime area and ran its plates. This check revealed that the registered owner, Amber Smith, had a suspended license. The police could not ascertain the gender of the driver, but effected the stop. This stop is legal under State v. Newer, which held that it is reasonable for the police to presume that the registered owner of the vehicle is the driver.

After making the stop the police approached the car but before making contact with the driver, noticed that the driver was not Amber Smith, but a man. Nevertheless, the police continued and asked for the man's driver's license. The police also asked the defendant to roll down his window, but he claimed that he could not do so. The police then asked the defendant to get out of the car and the defendant claimed that his doors were stuck. The police officer then went to the passenger side and opened the door. Once the door was opened, the police smelled the strong odor of alcohol and eventually the defendant was arrested for OWI- seventh offense.

The Defendant's Argument:

The defendant argued that the police made an unlawful contact, because the reasonable suspicion for the stop had dissipated before contact was made with the driver. The defendant further argued that the police made an unlawful search when they opened the passenger door.

The Court's Holding:

The Wisconsin Supreme Court held that the police, if they make a lawful stop, are entitled to make contact with the driver, even if the reasonable suspicion that prompted the stop had dissipated. And the court held that part of the contact includes asking for the driver's driving license and running a check. Moreover, the court opined that since the police have the right to a face to face dealing with the driver and can command the driver to exit the vehicle, it follows that they can open the door if the driver can't or won't do so. Thus, the court held that the police discovery of the defendant's intoxicated state was lawfully obtained.

Key Points:

- 1) The police are entitled to a face to face contact with anyone they lawfully stop. The police are similarly entitled to ask for the driver's license and to check it out.
- 2) This entitlement is not compromised by the fact that the original reasonable suspicion had dissipated before the contact.
- 3) The police can open the door to make the face to face contact but should not do so unless after being asked to exit the vehicle or to roll down the window, the defendant refuses to do so or claims to be unable to comply with the command.

Veteran Detective, aged 37, with over 13 years of law enforcement experience, was shot. On 01/16/2018, detective participated in tactical response to apprehend subject of domestic dispute who shot K-9 deputy. Domestic dispute began in late hours of 01/15/2018, when subject fled from residence heavily armed. In early morning hours of 01/06/2018, initial responding deputies and K-9 team attempted to track and apprehend subject, when subject opened fire on deputies. K-9 deputy was shot several times and seriously wounded. YCSO deputy was extracted, taken to nearby hospital, and is in stable condition after surgery and expected to survive.

SWAT teams assisted with attempting to locate and arrest subject. Additionally, South Carolina Law Enforcement Division (SLED) helicopter and Charlotte Mecklenberg Police Department assisted with pre-dawn search of subject. Don's story is remarkable, having served in the US Army occupation forces in Germany during the Korean War. After Korea, Don Bruendl settled in Ripon, Wisconsin, where he purchased and sold a business before entering law enforcement. Don then became a part-time DNR Warden and also was hired as a dispatcher/jailer for the Green Lake County Sheriff's Office. Deputy Bruendl was promoted to investigator and worked with the tri-county drug enforcement group. Don Bruendl then made Undersheriff for Green Lake County and was subsequently elected Sheriff in 1987. Don was Sheriff of Green Lake County until 1992, when he retired. Don Bruendl's obituary is published on the Butzin Marchant funeral home of Ripon website. ## A LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER YOU SHOULD KNOW

SUBMIT A LAW ENFORCEMENT MEMBER FOR RECOGNITION

Law enforcement officers, jailors, and juvenile detention personnel work tirelessly day-in and day-out to serve and protect our citizens. All too often their daily performance is taken for granted and only becomes newsworthy when something extraordinary happens.

The Department of Justice (DOJ) would like to recognize and provide a format for agencies and peers to recognize law enforcement officers, jailors, and juvenile detention officers who exhibit exceptional commitment, dedicated community service, and ethical leadership on a daily basis as they perform their duties. While many awards exist to recognize exceptional service, the so called "routine efforts" can sometimes go unnoticed.

DOJ would like to start featuring these dedicated public servants in the Law Enforcement Bulletin. If you are interested in participating in this great recognition opportunity please submit a candidate through the electronic form now available in the Law Enforcement Bulletin section of WILENET.

On the submission form you will have the opportunity to provide a short bio of the individual and share a story or provide an example of the extra effort, kindness, or creativity that your member shows in their work on a daily basis. A photo of the individual and/or the agency logo is also encouraged. Submissions will be excepted from front-line supervisors or higher and will be reviewed by DOJ staff. The support of our criminal justice partners will make this a successful endeavor and provide some well-deserved recognition to those in the field.
