MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Colleague –

The Department of Justice has deployed new resources that will allow law enforcement, in certain authorized circumstances, access to juvenile and mental health records using the TIME System. The Legislature passed 2013 Act 223, authorizing law enforcement access to mental health information in accordance with s.165.63 (4) Wis. Stats. and access to information on individuals ordered not to possess a firearm under s. 51.20 (13)(cv) 1., s. 51.45 (13) (i) 1., s. 54.10 (3) (f) 1., or s. 55.12 (10) (a) while doing any of the following:

- a. Enforce or investigate a violation of WI Stats. s. 941.29.*
- b. Conduct a background check on an individual who is applying to become a law enforcement officer or on a current law enforcement officer.*
- c. Make a determination under WI Stats. s. 175.48 (2) (a) or 175.49 (2) (b) 4 or (5).*
- d. Aid the court in making a determination required under WI Stats. s. 813.1285 (7) (a).*

As a result of this law, DOJ has created new functionality in the TIME System to access this mental health information. Portal 100 software has two new forms (0028 & 0029) that provide this access. The first (Portal form 0028), provides law enforcement the ability to query a person who has petitioned the court for the return of his/her firearm. This query, as authorized by the statute above, now searches authorized mental health records in addition to the other standard data services used for this purpose. The second (Portal form 0027) allows law enforcement to query authorized mental health records for law enforcement officer applicant background checks and to enforce or investigative violations of s. 941.29. The ability to query authorized mental health records was also added to the eTIME Browser application as an optional selection under the person search for authorized users.

Law enforcement now has access to the Wisconsin Circuit Court data (CCAP) through the TIME System. 2011 Act 270 required that the State Courts make juvenile data under Chapter 48 Wis. Stats. available to other courts, guardian ad litem, and district attorneys under authorized circumstances. In addition, 2011 Act 270 authorized access to juvenile data by law enforcement agencies for purposes of investigating alleged criminal activity or activity that may result in a court exercising jurisdiction under s. 938.12 or 938.13(12) Wis. Stats. . The DOJ Crime Information Bureau (CIB) has completed modifications to the TIME System in cooperation with the Courts to allow law enforcement access to this information in a secure manner through the legacy TIME System, eTIME Browser and Server to Server interfaces. This is similar to how they access concealed carry information and driver license photos that are also limited to law enforcement agencies. CCAP has agreed to offer access to adult and juvenile data through this TIME System interface. The transaction can be found in Portal 100 as form 0029 and in eTIME as an optional data service on the Person Search page.

If you have questions regarding this new functionality please contact CIB for more details.

Very truly yours,

*Brad D. Schimel
Attorney General*

State v. Raheem Moore Decided by the Wisconsin Supreme Court June 16, 2015

Issue:

This case dealt with the mandatory recording statute relevant to juvenile interrogations. In this case Moore, a juvenile, expressed reservations about being recorded during the course of an interrogation, and the police stopped the recording for a short period of time. In this period Moore changed his earlier fabrications into a confession. The police surreptitiously recorded Moore after this confession, and while recorded he gave more details. The Wisconsin Supreme Court had to deal with whether Moore had refused to cooperate with the recording, which would, under the statute, validate the shutting off of the recorder, or if Moore had not refused to cooperate, meaning his statements should be suppressed. Ultimately the high court opined that Moore had not refused to cooperate and that the police had wrongly shut off the recorder for a period of time and the statements made during that time should be suppressed. But the court found this error to be harmless error and affirmed the conviction.

Facts:

The police responded to a homicide and the investigation in short order led them to Moore, who was 15 years old. Moore was questioned for 5 and half hours over a nine hour period. There was no dispute that Moore was properly Mirandized throughout the interrogation. During the course of the interview Moore was fed, and given rest and bathroom breaks. The interview was recorded pursuant to the mandates of Jerrell and statute.

At first Moore denied any involvement in the shooting, putting the blame on an individual named Jevonte. Moore said Jevonte was 15 and then later upped his age to 18, and when told that nobody previous questioned about the incident had ever heard about Jevonte, Moore claimed they were lying. Moore then said that he might have been present when Jevonte did the shooting but all he really saw was a flash. Eventually Moore asked for the recorder to be turned off, but when told that it was in everybody's best interest to keep it on, Moore didn't protest and the recording continued.

Moore then said maybe Jevonte was not involved and he pinned the blame on another person, who was familiar to the police. Eventually Moore mentioned the recorder again and said he would like the police to turn it off. The police tried to make a record that Moore wanted the recording turned off, but Moore never indicated that he would not proceed until the recording was shut off. The police shut off the recorder. After the recording was stopped, the interrogation continued and soon thereafter Moore admitted that he was the shooter. Shortly after the confession the police surreptitiously turned on the recorder and Moore affirmed his confession and gave more details.

Moore's case was handled in adult court and he pled guilty to a crime of second degree reckless homicide.

The Defendant's Argument:

The defendant argued that his confession should be suppressed since he had not refused to cooperate and therefore the recording never should have stopped.

The State's Argument:

The state argued that Moore had refused to cooperate and therefore the recording was properly stopped under the statute. Also the state argued that though Moore was a juvenile, the matter was handled in adult court where it is not an absolute requirement that the statements be recorded.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court Holding:

First, the Supreme Court held the statement was voluntary. Second the court held that Moore, while expressing reservations, had never really refused to cooperate with the recording and thus the police wrongly shut off the recording. But the court found this to be harmless error, as the court felt there was plenty of evidence generated by Moore's recorded statements both before the recorder was shut off, and after the recorder was restarted that supported the charge he pled to. Since they found harmless error the court did not decide whether the statute on juveniles, requiring recording, or adults, strongly favoring recording but not necessarily requiring it, controls a case where a juvenile is questioned about an adult felony.

Note:

The lesson of this case is when interrogating a juvenile, the recorder should always be going unless the subject clearly states that he will not proceed without the recorder being shut off, and this action by the defendant should be recorded.

Wisconsin State Patrol Mobile Data Browser (MDB) System and Mobile Architecture for Communications Handling (MACH) Software Alternative

Tuesday, March 17, 2015

9:18 PM

Users of the Mobile Data Browser (MDB) system supported by the Wisconsin State Patrol received notice on November 11, 2014 that the system is scheduled to be taken offline. The December 31st, 2015 deactivation date is due to an inability of the antiquated MDB system to meet new Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) security requirements.

As a replacement for the messaging and TIME system query capabilities of the MDB system, the Wisconsin State Patrol and Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources have jointly funded the sub-licensing of a software called Mobile Architecture for Communications Handling (MACH). MACH is offered through the National Model. <http://www.nationalmodel.us/>

The MACH software uses a broadband connection, GPS and downloaded maps to provide users with automatic vehicle location (AVL) capabilities. Beyond AVL functionality, MACH provides users with enhanced messaging features and the ability to securely run advanced queries of the TIME system. TIME system returns from MACH can be imported into the forms within the Traffic and Criminal Software (TraCS) software used by agencies across the state.

The MACH sub-license agreement has allowed the Wisconsin State Patrol to make the software available to more than sixty additional government public safety agencies including those seeking an alternative to the MDB system. Additional user agency costs are limited to those associated with the broadband data expenses, a $12 per year/per mobile unit Google Maps user fee and the expense of the hardware necessary to run MACH. The hardware requirements for MACH are identical to those required for Traffic and Criminal Software (TraCS) and the Incident Location Tool (ILT).

A video with a description of MACH and some of its capabilities is available on YouTube at: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=io-eLDgNct0>

Agencies that would like more information about the MACH software may contact: MACH@dot.wi.gov
