MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Official:

A year ago, I wrote to Governor Jim Doyle and to the Wisconsin Legislature, about legislative action required before HR 218 -- the Law Enforcement Officers Safety Act of 2004 -- can be effectively implemented in Wisconsin. The only response that I received to my letter was from a group of legislators that said legislative action was not required since HR 218 could be implemented by Wisconsin agencies at the local level.

It is true that HR 218 provides local agencies the ability to issue certifications that retirees have met their standards of training. The fact is that on advice of their legal representatives, most agencies are choosing not to issue these certifications because of liability concerns. In some cases, I understand that the insurance agencies which provide coverage to the local agencies are recommending that these certifications not be issued. So, after all this time, Wisconsin retirees are unable to obtain certification to carry a weapon as anticipated by HR 218. As it stands today this Federal law is not being administered fairly or uniformly in our state.

In February of this year, I again wrote to the legislative leaders encouraging them to take action within our state so HR 218 can be implemented. To meet the requirements of federal law to allow retired law enforcement officers to carry a concealed weapon, specific provisions of HR 218 must be addressed by the Legislature.

As detailed in my correspondence in November of 2004, I concluded that the following legislative changes would be necessary:

- 1. Legislation authorizing appropriate state or local officials to establish annual firearm training and qualification standards for retired law enforcement officers who live in Wisconsin;*
- 2. Legislation authorizing appropriate state or local officials to annually evaluate and certify firearm training and qualifications of retired law enforcement officers under the applicable standards; and*
- 3. Legislation authorizing appropriate state or local officials to collect any fees and to make any expenditures that may be necessary to conduct background checks and provide photographic identification and firearm training and certification services to retired law enforcement officers.*

Wisconsin law enforcement agencies are still waiting for a definitive resolution regarding implementation of this Act. I cannot stress enough the importance of developing a Wisconsin solution to address the problems I have outlined.

I provided a copy of my letter to all Wisconsin's law enforcement associations. Also, to assist all Wisconsin law enforcement representatives in learning more about this issue, more information about HR 218 is available on WILENET. Wisconsin Law Enforcement representatives may wish to share their views on this matter with their state representatives, senators, and with the governor.

Very truly yours,

*Peg Lautenschlager
Attorney General*

Village of Cross Plains v. Haanstad
2006 WI 16-Decided by the Wisconsin Supreme Court- 2/14/06

Introduction:

This case deals with the issue of OWI and the operation of a motor vehicle. The Wisconsin Supreme Court held that the word “operate” requires that the defendant physically manipulate or activate any of the controls of the motor vehicle necessary to put it in motion.

Facts:

The defendant met her friend Tim at a bar around 7 pm. While at the bar the defendant consumed alcoholic beverages. Between 11:30 and midnight the defendant gave Tim the keys to her car and Tim drove her and another male to Baer Park in Cross Plains. Tim parked the defendant’s car on the left side of a Chevy Blazer, the other person’s car, and then exited the defendant’s car, to help the other person get in the Blazer. The motor of the defendant’s parked vehicle was left running.

While Tim was doing this the defendant slid over from the passenger’s seat where she had been sitting into the driver’s seat. The defendant then placed her body and feet facing the passenger seat allowing Tim to enter the car through the passenger seat so that the two could discuss their relationship. Tim entered the car and sat in the passenger seat and the two started talking. At approximately 12:30 am the police approached the defendant’s parked vehicle and observed the defendant in the driver’s seat. The police noticed that the defendant’s eyes were bloodshot and watery and that she had a distinct odor of intoxicants. The defendant explained to the police that she had not been driving but nonetheless was asked to perform field sobriety tests, which she failed, and ultimately the police arrested her for OWI.

Defendant’s Position:

The defendant argued that her arrest was unlawful because she had not been operating the vehicle as she had not in any way activated the vehicle or touched any of the physical controls.

The State’s Position:

The state argued that the defendant was guilty of OWI because she was in the driver’s seat of a vehicle whose engine was running.

The Court’s Holding:

The trial court agreed with the defendant and found the arrest was unlawful because at most the defendant was guilty of “drunken sitting”. The appellate court reversed the trial court and found the arrest was lawful as the defendant was in the front seat of a vehicle with the motor running.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court agreed with the defendant and the trial court and reversed the appellate court ruling. The key to the Wisconsin Supreme Court was that there was no evidence that the defendant had in any way activated the vehicle or touched any of the controls. The court did reiterate an earlier ruling in County of Milwaukee v. Proegler which did hold that a subject sitting in the driver seat of a running but parked vehicle was enough for OWI but in Proegler there was evidence that the defendant had originally started the car. Here there was no evidence to controvert the defendant’s version that she had not started the vehicle, had not driven the vehicle, and had not manipulated any of the controls. The mere fact of sitting in the driver’s seat of a parked but running vehicle is not enough to show operation to make an OWI charge stick.

Note: I do not think this case should have a major impact for law enforcement as it was decided mainly on the basis of its unusual facts. However when law enforcement confront a subject in a parked but running vehicle they should first investigate the issue of whether the person in the driver’s seat had either started the vehicle or touched any of the controls before proceeding with an investigation of the intoxication issue.

UPDATE
STATE LAW AUTHORITY TO DETAIN
BASED ON IMMIGRATION STATUS

In May 2004, the Department of Justice developed guidelines dealing with what the police can and can not do in relation to detaining and arresting for federal immigration violations. The article stressed that while the police may lawfully enforce federal criminal immigration violations; they may not detain or arrest for civil immigration violations.

The article also reiterated the well-grounded principle that Wisconsin police may not stop vehicles or detain subjects on foot solely on the basis of their racial or ethnic profiling simply to question subjects about their immigration or citizenship status.

It is encouraging to note that there has been a marked drop off in complaints about unnecessary and perhaps unlawful police intrusions for the mere purpose of checking a subject's immigration status, since the time frame of the original article. However, as the problem has not been completely ameliorated, now is a good time to revisit the basic concepts.

- 1) Police may not stop or detain solely to check on a person's immigration status.
- 2) Police should not request immigration documents from persons they stop or detain, although if a person offers immigration documents the officer may consider those documents in determining the individual's identity.
- 3) Police may not detain or arrest a person for immigration violations, even if the subject admits that he or she is an illegal alien as most times illegal presence in this country is a civil violation which state law enforcement officials have no authority to enforce.
- 4) Police may detain or arrest on immigration matters only when they receive an NCIC hit confirmation that shows that the subject is a Deported Felon or an Absconder.
- 5) Police may not detain or arrest a person because he or she is a suspected NSEERS (National Security Entry-Exit Registration System) violator; as such a violation is a civil immigration violation.

A secondary issue is that the police should not use immigration officers as a translation service. While the use of interpreters are encouraged in many instances and mandated in areas such as the reading of the Implied Consent form to a non- English speaking person, or the reading of the Miranda warning or a consent form, the need to communicate effectively should not be intertwined with immigration issues and concerns.

Wisconsin has a rich tradition of fairness in its policing practices. It is expected that this tradition continues when dealing with subjects who may not be United States citizens.

Deadline Date For All Submissions: 15th of the Month

# 7599 – THEFT OF RENTAL CARS – Airport Police Department, Minneapolis, MN

During the month of January our rental car facility has experienced an unusual upswing in theft of rental cars. Our investigation has found that most of the vehicles are traveling to Chicago where they are sold on the street or disassembled at a yet undisclosed “chop shop”. We have also learned that the Kwik-Trip at I-94 exit 143 is a standard refueling stop used for their travel.

Below is a list of current suspects, our investigation has tied each of these persons to suspicious activity, attempted auto theft or auto theft at our rental facility. They are also related either by blood or marriage. Most or all have gang ties and have served time in prison or juvenile facilities in Minnesota and/or Illinois, most for auto theft or drug related activity.

Suspect information:

Andre Jemar Wilborn DOB 09-28-1976

Prince Antonio Jones DOB 09-10-1989, Multiple AKAs

Dervon Chantoine Smith DOB 11-13-1987

Darnell Epps DOB 09-10-1981

Charles Epps DOB 11-20-1977

Antonio Deangelo Wilborn DOB 05-29-1982

Brandon Madison Pritchett DOB 02-16-1988, Multiple AKAs

Several other unidentified parties, last name Epps and/or Wilborn

We are very interested in any contacts your department has had with any of the individuals. Traffic contacts have been found by agencies in Wisconsin that have allowed us to locate our suspects driving in stolen autos, which at the time of the stop were not known to be stolen. If your Officers do have the opportunity to contact them they will have the keys to the cars, but would not have a rental contract or may have a rental contract in another persons name (stolen contract). Due to the nature of the rental process it is very possible that the vehicle may not yet be reported stolen.

Contacting the company via the following telephone numbers will allow for verification of the vehicles having been rented or not rented. Officers should identify themselves and ask the call taker to check if the car is currently “on rent”.
