MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Official:

Through the Department of Justice's operations, we assist local law enforcement in a variety of ways, including Crime Lab analysis and assisting in criminal investigations. But our support to law enforcement and public safety is more than programmatic. As Attorney General, I am in a unique position to use my office to advocate for legislative initiatives that will support law enforcement and enhance public safety. My and my staff's work in the legislative arena includes proposing new public safety initiatives, enhancing or clarifying existing law to benefit the administration of criminal justice, and working to modify or oppose measures that may interfere with legitimate law enforcement practices.

Below are some examples of my efforts to promote public safety and law enforcement in the legislature this past session:

DOJ Budget Initiatives: DNA, Internet Crimes, and Medicaid Fraud

After years of budget cuts at the Department of Justice, at my request and with the support of law enforcement, the Governor and Legislature agreed to enhance DOJ's resources to process DNA cases, investigate and analyze Internet crimes against children, and investigate Medicaid Fraud. My requests differed remarkably from the requests submitted by the Department prior to my election, but they reflect my priorities: supporting local law enforcement and enhancing DOJ's ability to complement local law enforcement in areas requiring specialized resources.

The Wisconsin Crime Alert Network

In January, with many members of the law enforcement community at my side, I proposed an electronic network that would allow us in the law enforcement community to send crime alerts to participating members of the business community to help us solve more crimes. The network would operate without general tax revenue or involuntary fees. It was through a similar network in Minnesota that a participating hotel reported activity and helped law enforcement safely recover four Wisconsin children who had been abducted and taken to Minnesota last year. The legislation, authored by Representative Garey Bies in the Assembly and Senator Jeff Plale in the Senate, cleared the Assembly and the Senate committees reviewing the bill, but was not brought to the Senate floor for a vote. I hope that in the next session we can work together to get this passed.

TIME System Access To Drivers' Photos

State Representative Kitty Rhoades authored a bill this session that would allow DOJ to access DOT drivers' license photos so that law enforcement could have real time access to those photos through e-TIME. I have heard from many of you as I've traveled the state that the present inability to electronically access DOT photos is a concern. Many other states have this capability, and the many public safety benefits – to officers and the communities they serve – are plain. I agreed to use DOJ settlement funds to pay for the technical improvements required at DOJ so the cost to the treasury would be minimal. The bill passed the Assembly, but got stuck in a Senate committee without a hearing. Hopefully, this important measure will be considered again next session.

Concealed Carry For Retired Law Enforcement Officers

The federal government passed an act, commonly referred to as HR-218, which allows retired law enforcement officers meeting statutory qualifications to carry concealed weapons upon being issued the proper credentials. Implementation of HR-218 at the local level in Wisconsin has been sporadic, due primarily to legal uncertainty and liability concerns. Though I believe HR-218 provides all that is needed for a local jurisdiction to issue appropriate credentials, I also believe that a state law would have the benefit of providing a roadmap for implementation and protect agencies against unwarranted exposure to liability. After extensive initial consultation with police groups throughout the state, my staff worked on a bill with Representative Don Friske that would expand retired law enforcement's ability to carry without disrupting local law enforcement's ability to set appropriate training qualifications for their departments or create a new state bureaucracy. Unfortunately, the legislation did not receive a vote in either legislative body, primarily due to timing. I believe that we should be able to move the appropriate legislation in the next session.

I chose to allocate my time and the time of my legislative staff to these areas in part because I heard from many of you about the significance of these problems. Hearing from you about the desirability of having electronic access to TIME photos or clarifying the law as it relates to HR-218 helps me prioritize the efforts of my legislative staff to do what is best for law enforcement. And I want to continue to encourage you to share your ideas with me and my staff about changes to the law that you believe may make our communities safer.

I truly believe that law enforcement's opinion matters in Madison. Many legislators value your perspective on legislation that concerns public safety. I know I do. I also know that the legislative process can sometimes appear difficult to access from the outside. There are times when we may be able to help you navigate that process.

I encourage you to contact Kevin St. John, DOJ's Special Assistant Attorney General For Public Affairs and Policy, or Gary Hamblin, DOJ's Administrator for Law Enforcement Services, if you have ideas about new initiatives requiring legislation or ideas about making changes to existing law that will promote public safety. There are many areas where the Department of Justice's interests are closely aligned with yours and together, we may be able to move on common initiatives more successfully than if we work independently.

I look forward to hearing from you and working together to continue to improve public safety in Wisconsin.

Sincerely,

J.B. Van Hollen
Wisconsin Attorney General

State v. Markwardt
Decided by the Court of Appeals
2007 WI App 242, 742 N.W.2d 546

Issue:

This case involved the Miranda invocation of the right to silence. The court of appeals held that this right has to be clearly and unambiguously expressed.

Facts:

The police received a report of a shooting. The first officers to arrive saw a 22 year old female lying on her back in an upstairs bedroom, unresponsive but breathing. The young woman had a bullet hole in the right upper portion of her skull. There were several other people present at the house.

From interviewing several of the witnesses the police learned that Norman Butler, Markwardt's boyfriend, had left the house after the shooting. The police located Norman walking a few blocks from the crime scene and transported him to the Sheboygan Police Department where he was interviewed. Norman told the police that he and Markwardt were in the upstairs when they hear a loud "bang" from the bedroom. Norman said he then went into the bedroom and saw Jim in the room holding something black and he saw the young woman gasping for breath.

Eventually the police were able to find Markwardt. She was found along with Jim, who was dead inside a Blazer automobile. After being handcuffed Markwardt was placed in the back seat of a squad car. Marqwardt was then taken to the police department and while still in handcuffs she was placed in a holding room. Eventually the handcuffs were removed and she was interviewed for about 20 minutes. Soon thereafter another detective arrived on the scene and read Markwardt her Miranda warning and Markwardt waived her rights.

Thereafter Markwardt gave the police three versions of what happened. The police confronted her with all the inconsistencies in her statements and one hour and eleven minutes into the interrogation Markwardt said, "Then put me in jail. Just get me out of here. I don't want to sit here anymore, alright. I've been through enough today." The police continued to interview and eventually Markwardt admitted that she brought the gun into the residence and that she agreed to give Jim a ride away from the shooting. Based on her statements Markwardt was charged with party to the crime of furnishing a firearm to a felon and harboring or aiding a felon.

The Defendant's Argument:

The defendant argued that her statements should have been suppressed since she had asserted her Miranda right to silence and the police did not scrupulously honor her request.

The State's Argument:

The state argued that the statement was admissible because Markwardt had not clearly expressed a wish to be silent.

The Wisconsin Court of Appeals Holding:

The Wisconsin Court of Appeals held that Markwardt did not unequivocally invoke her right to remain silent and that her statements were voluntary. The court reasoned that Markwardt originally waived her Miranda rights and never clearly cut off questioning from that point on. The court held that Markwardt's comments were ambiguous as they could lead to different reasonable interpretations. Therefore since her comments were not clear it was permissible for the police to continue questioning.

Note: It is important to appreciate that this case was a close call. The police must immediately stop questioning if a suspect clearly expresses a wish to invoke their Miranda right to silence. However, if a subject invokes their right to silence, unlike when they invoke their right to an attorney, the police can reinitiate contact with a suspect provided they wait at least two hours and provided they give the suspect a fresh Miranda warning.

New Requirements for CODIS Searches

The CODIS (Combined DNA Index System) is operated and controlled by the FBI. Recently, the rules concerning which profiles can be searched have become more stringent. Previously, it was allowable for the laboratory to assume that law enforcement agencies were submitting the appropriate elimination samples. Now the laboratory must document that this is the case. Before an evidence profile can be uploaded to the National level of CODIS, the FBI requires that standard samples be obtained from anyone that could have legitimately contributed a DNA profile. The purpose of the standard sample is to determine if the forensic profile developed from a crime scene sample actually came from the perpetrator or from someone else who legitimately had access to the forensic evidence. If someone other than the criminal perpetrator could have contributed the DNA profile, the other individuals must be eliminated or the samples cannot be uploaded and searched at the National level of the CODIS system. This rule should help prevent innocent individuals from having their DNA profile entered into the National index, which is prohibited by federal law. If these elimination samples are not obtained or if there is not a valid reason why they cannot be obtained, the profiles cannot be searched at the National level of CODIS. The laboratory must document the submission of the elimination standards or the reason they have not been obtained in order to send the profiles to the National level.

For instance if a cigarette butt is obtained from a crime scene, the police agency must inquire as to whether anyone at the scene, victims or others legitimately there, smoked. If they smoked, did they smoke that particular brand that was recovered? If anyone smoked that brand then elimination buccal swabs from those individuals must be submitted with the case.

In the case of a sexual assault, elimination samples must be submitted from the victim's consenting sexual partner(s) if she engaged in sexual activity in the last five days prior to the assault. If the elimination samples are not obtained or reasons why they were not submitted are not documented, any evidentiary profiles developed in the case cannot be uploaded to the National level of CODIS.

In cases where neither the elimination samples are provided nor a legitimate reason given as to why they weren't provided, the laboratory can and will search the profiles at the state level of CODIS. These profiles will be entered into a special state index and maintained there until either the proper elimination samples are provided or a rationale for why they can't or won't be submitted is documented. When required elimination samples are provided and analyzed, and it is determined that the forensic profile probably originated from the criminal perpetrator, the forensic crime scene profiles will be moved to the National level and searched there.

Grant Funds Available for Smaller Police Agencies OJA Seeks Proposals

The Wisconsin Office of Justice Assistance (OJA) is seeking input from smaller police and sheriffs' departments on how grant dollars could best be used to enhance the agencies' ability to prevent crime and build safer communities. Larger jurisdictions receive federal Edward Byrne Justice Assistance Grants (JAG) through direct awards or through drug task force funding. Smaller agencies, whose jurisdictions cover the majority of the state, have traditionally had fewer opportunities to apply for JAG and other state and federal law enforcement grants.

An opportunity currently exists, however, for smaller agencies to apply for JAG funds to better provide services and reduce crime in their communities. Police Chiefs and Sheriffs are encouraged to communicate their ideas to OJA for how a one-time grant of up to $10,000 would be used to improve their law enforcement capacity.

Following federal requirements, larger jurisdictions, which receive direct Byrne/JAG awards, are ineligible for this funding opportunity. While recent cuts to the Byrne/JAG program have threatened the viability of a number of programs across the state, this current round of funding must be distributed to smaller agencies which do not receive direct awards. OJA is disseminating this preliminary solicitation so that Police Chiefs and Sheriffs may provide input on their particular needs before submitting an application by the proposed June 25, 2008 deadline.

While grant applications will be considered from any smaller law enforcement agency, priority will be given to departments comprising between five and 15 full-time sworn officers, and from municipalities with populations of 10,000 or fewer. Priority will also be given to multi-jurisdictional programs collaborating on a common problem. Acceptable grant uses will vary widely; however, OJA is not looking for proposals to begin or enhance drug enforcement programs. Funds for this purpose are already allocated through the drug task forces and other programs throughout the state. Funds from this grant will not require a match of any kind but must not supplant regular and customary budget items or costs.

Any ideas, proposals or other thoughts may be sent to the Project Coordinator, Jerry Jansen, at OJA. Look for more information and the grant announcement after May 30, 2008 on the OJA web site, www.oja.wi.gov.
