MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Official:

One of my proudest accomplishments as Attorney General is the creation of the DOJ Public Integrity Unit. Comprised of attorneys and DCI agents, its ongoing mission is to investigate public corruption and enforce state laws mandating access to government meetings and public records.

Why is this effort to promote clean, open government so important to law enforcement? One important reason is that the actions of lawmakers and public officials can directly affect the men and women of law enforcement and working in the criminal justice system in our day to day jobs serving and protecting the people of Wisconsin. An open, public process is one that includes us in this dialogue.

But what if some elected officials wished to deliberately exclude us? Unfortunately, this can happen. For example, in each biennial session the legislature, state representatives and senators consider bills impacting the interests of law enforcement -- criminal laws, budgetary matters, or bills impacting the rights and responsibilities of citizens.

One such initiative introduced repeatedly in various renditions would allow citizens to carry concealed weapons. Regardless of how one feels about the pros and cons of such a law, there is no doubt that its passage would impact law enforcement, both from an administrative/fiscal perspective, as well as a public safety perspective. I believe it is important for the law enforcement community in Wisconsin to be able to weigh in on such bills in a timely manner, before they are rushed to a vote and presented to the Governor for his signature. I also believe it is the responsibility of the Attorney General to carefully consider such legislation and advise the citizens of the state, the legislature, and in particular the law enforcement community about what potential impact such legislation likely will have in regard to our collective responsibility to enforce the law and keep communities safe.

To that end, on behalf of the Department of Justice, I and members of the staff requested copies of draft legislation regarding the latest concealed carry bill when we discovered that a draft was being shared with parties outside the legislature. I thought it vitally important then, and still do today, that all parties with a stake in the bill be able to analyze the specifics under consideration as soon as draft language is made available to any other member of the public. We were denied access to the draft, and as a result filed suit against the sponsors of the bill in accordance with the provisions of our public records laws. Although the bill did not survive the Governor's veto, that case remains pending because the principle at stake: public access to the legislative process.

Openness in government is an issue vitally important to all of us. Whether a school board agenda, or a subject with potentially life and death consequences, the process must remain accessible. The Public Integrity Unit is a powerful enforcement tool at DOJ that helps make this principle a reality. Wisconsin citizens, and Wisconsin law enforcement, are safer because of it.

Very truly yours,

State v. Kelley
Decided by the Wisconsin Court of Appeals-
9/20/05 2005 WI App 199

Introduction:

This case involves the issue of consent to search a home focusing on the extent of the consent and the scope of the search. The appellate court held that it is not coercive to ask for consent to search a home for one legitimate purpose and to extend that search to look for items relevant to another purpose provided they continued to look in places where items for the first purpose could be found.

Facts:

Police were investigating a homicide where a woman had been strangled and set on fire. The police went to the apartment building where the victim had lived and were specifically looking for an accelerant related to the murder and the handset part of a cordless phone, which the murderer had taken from the victim's apartment. During the course of the investigation the defendant's sister, who also lived in the apartment complex, advised that her brother, a suspect, had given the officer's a false name and had child pornography in his apartment.

The police went to the defendant's apartment, also in the same complex, and asked for permission to search the apartment to look for evidence related to the murder. The police did not mention any interest in searching for child pornography. The defendant consented to the search. The defendant signed his name to the officer's notebook to acknowledge his consent. The defendant signed the same name that he had earlier given the police; a name his sister had told the police was a false one. During the search the police told the defendant that they believed he had given a false name and the defendant admitted that he had lied about his name and birth date.

The officers continued to search the defendant's apartment and looked under the bed. Under the bed the police found child pornography and seized it.

Defendant's Argument:

The defendant argued that the child pornography evidence should have been suppressed since it had been illegally seized. The defendant argued that the police had asked for consent to search his home for murder evidence and thus could only lawfully seize evidence of that murder. The defendant reasoned that his consent was coerced as the police had tricked him as to the reason for the search.

The State's Position:

The state argued that the seizure of the child pornography was permissible since the police had valid consent and that the consent had not been restricted or rescinded by the defendant. The state argued that the consent was voluntarily given.

The Court Holding:

The Court of Appeals agreed with the state, that the consent was voluntary and that the police did not exceed the scope of the consent when they searched under the bed. First the court held that the police were legitimately looking for evidence of a murder and that they were not lying to the defendant when they said that was the reason for the search. The fact that the police might have been looking for evidence of child pornography as well did not change the legitimacy of their desire to search for evidence of a murder. Second the court held that looking under the bed was not exceeding the scope of the expressed reason for the search as an accelerant and/or a handset of cordless phone could easily have been hidden under a bed. Moreover since the defendant was present during the search he had ample opportunity if he wished to restrict or rescind his consent to search, which he did not do.

NOTE: The police should remember that consent to search a home can be restricted by telling the defendant the purpose of the search. Here, the consent was pretty general because the police were given consent to search an entire home to look for evidence of a murder and thus the only restriction would be that the police could not look anywhere where murder evidence could not be found. Also the police when giving a reason for the search must be honest. In other words if the police did not at all suspect the defendant was a murder suspect and asked for permission to search a home for murder evidence, when all the while only had the intent to look for child pornography, such a search would be unlawful. Here, the police legitimately viewed the defendant as a murder suspect and thus it was lawful to ask for consent to search his home for that purpose even though they also suspected him of having child pornography and so the search was fine so long as they looked in places where evidence of the murder could be found.

Also if the police ask for consent to search a home and do not give a purpose and the defendant does not ask for the purpose and gives consent that would seemingly give the police carte blanche to search anywhere in the home.

The Wisconsin Division of Motor Vehicles offices will be closed for the Thanksgiving holiday on November 23, 2006 and also the following day, November 24, 2006.

FBI OFFICERS KILLED

These statistics represent preliminary information received by the FBI, January through August 2006: Twenty-seven law enforcement officers have been killed due to criminal actions. During the same time period in 2005, 41 officers were slain. Fourteen deaths occurred in the south, six in the west, five in the northeast, and two in the midwest. Circumstances involving the 27 slain officers are as follows: seven were answering disturbance calls (three being domestic disturbance calls), five were answering robbery calls, five were ambushed, four were performing traffic stops, two were investigating suspicious persons or circumstances, two were involved in drug-related matters, one was attempting other arrest, and one officer was slain in tactical situation. Firearms were used in 26 killings (18 handguns, five rifles, two shotguns, and one firearm type not reported) and vehicle in one. Twelve officers were wearing protective vests. There have been 26 separate incidents in which these 27 officers have been slain. Twenty-five of the 26 incidents have been cleared by arrest or exceptional means. Forty-two law enforcement officers have been accidentally killed. During the same time period in 2005, 34 officers were accidentally killed. Fifteen deaths occurred in the south, 12 in the west, 11 in the midwest, three in the northeast, and one in Puerto Rico. Circumstances involving the 42 deaths are as follows: 24 were killed in automobile accidents, seven were struck by vehicles, six were killed in motorcycle accidents, three were accidentally shot, and two were killed in aircraft accidents.

Incident Summaries

New York State Police (NYSP), Wilton, Veteran Trooper, aged 32, with eight years law enforcement experience with agency was shot on 08/31/2006. At approximately 6 p.m., two NYSP Mobile Response Team (MRT) members were ambushed, shot, and severely injured by subject using high-powered rifle during surveillance of residence. (Subject was state fugitive at time of this incident.) One victim trooper was shot in right abdomen area through ballistic vest with bullet exiting through left side of abdomen. Currently this victim trooper is in serious condition. His partner received wounds to upper left leg, severely damaging femoral artery. Victim trooper succumbed to complications arising from this injury on 09/03/2006. Additional background indicated subject, principle suspect in shooting of NYSP trooper that occurred on 06/10/2006 in Chemung County, New York, escaped from correctional facility. Following this shooting, manhunt for fugitive was initiated in Harpursville, New York, and moved to Chautauqua County, New York, when information indicated fugitive had fled there. In August 2006, vehicle pursuit of fugitive in Chautauqua County resulted in subject escaping on foot. Arrests of fugitive's family members for harboring ensued, and NYSP-reported threat from fugitive versus police for arrest of family members. On 08/27/2006, 41 weapons were stolen during burglary of gun shop in Ellington, New York. Subject was apprehended on 09/08/2006.

Houston Police Department (HPD), Texas, Veteran Officer, aged 40, with over 11 years law enforcement experience with agency was fatally shot on 09/21/2006. At approximately 5:25 p.m., officer in marked HPD patrol vehicle notified dispatcher that he was initiating traffic stop on vehicle for speeding. Stopped vehicle was occupied by subject and three other individuals. Subject advised officer that he did not have driver's license or other form of identification. Officer instructed subject to exit vehicle and advised him that he was under arrest for driving without license. It is believed officer conducted "high risk" search on subject but overlooked weapon located in subject's waistband due to subject wearing three heavy shirts. Officer handcuffed subject's hands behind his back and placed him in rear passenger compartment of patrol vehicle. Officer then requested wrecker, via HPD radio, to come to his location and tow subject's vehicle. After calling wrecker, officer returned to subject's vehicle to further identify remaining occupants. They were subject's two step-daughters and co-worker and advised officer they lived in immediate vicinity and could walk home. Unbeknownst to officer, while at subject's vehicle identifying occupants, subject laid down in back seat of patrol vehicle and contorted himself in manner that facilitated transition of his handcuffed hands from behind to front, allowing him to retrieve handgun from waistband. At about 5:35 p.m., dispatchers at HPD advised patrol units that emergency button on mobile digital terminal in officer's patrol unit had been depressed, and attempts to contact him via radio yielded negative results. HPD dispatcher promptly directed units in area of officer's last known location to respond to "assist the officer" call. Prior to their arrival, wrecker driver responded. As he approached officer's vehicle, two gunshots were heard and he observed rounds impacting surrounding area. As wrecker driver was seeking cover, several HPD patrol units arrived on scene. When officers began to approach patrol vehicle, they observed subject in back seat of vehicle, with his hands in front of him, holding 9-millimeter Smith & Wesson handgun. When subject noticed officers approaching, he laid down in seat and switched his handcuffed hands from front to behind. Subject dropped weapon as ordered by officers and surrendered without further incident. Victim officer, still sitting in driver's seat, has sustained four gunshot wounds to face and head. Victim officer was immediately transported to local hospital where he was pronounced dead. Subject subsequently confessed to fatally wounding officer, claiming victim officer "disrespected" him on front of his family by arresting him instead of writing citation. Subject was formally charged with capital murder of police officer on 09/22/2006 and remains in Harris County jail.

Metra Police, Chicago, Illinois, Officer, aged 43, with over three years law enforcement experience with agency was fatally shot on 09/27/2006. At approximately 11 p.m., officer, wearing body armor, was sitting in patrol unit in high crime area located at Metra train facility parking lot in Harvey, Illinois. Utilizing .38 caliber handgun, unknown subject shot officer in head. After shooting, subject entered victim officer's patrol unit and confiscated officer's service weapon. Victim officer was pronounced dead at scene. Although investigation continues, no arrests have been made at this time.

Polk County Sheriff's Office, Florida, Veteran Deputy, aged 39, with 12 years law enforcement experience with agency was fatally shot on 09/28/2006. At approximately 11:45 a.m., deputy stopped subject during routine traffic stop for speeding. Subject questioned deputy whether he was going to be arrested. Deputy indicated he did not know at time. Subject exited his vehicle and fled into wooded area. Deputy called for back-up. Back-up deputy with K-9 responded to scene. Altercation ensued with shots being fired between deputies and subject. Back-up deputy received eight firearm wounds including two fatal rounds to head. Deputy who originally performed traffic stop was wounded in leg, and K-9 was fatally injured. Subject used 9-millimeter Taurus during shootout and took back-up deputy's weapon, .45-caliber Smith & Wesson, after fatally wounding him. Following day, subject was located in same wooded area by SWAT team members and was fatally shot by officers when subject failed to obey commands and displayed firearm.

Additional details regarding these incidents are not available at this time. Should you wish to obtain information for condolence purposes, please contact your department's Law Enforcement Online (LEO) representative.
