MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Dear Law Enforcement Colleague –

On May 16, 2015, the Wisconsin Department of Justice partnered with Wisconsin law enforcement agencies to conduct a highly successful Drug Take-Back Day. As a result of this collaborative effort, we collected and safely disposed of 39,783 pounds of unwanted or expired medications. That is nearly 20 tons of drugs that will not end up in Wisconsin's water supply or misused. The goal of Prescription Drug Take-Back Day is to provide a safe, convenient and responsible means of disposal for prescription medications.

Since 2010, the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) had conducted biannual Drug Take-Back days nationwide. These were successful events which provided an opportunity for law enforcement to work with their communities to collect and dispose of unwanted medications. This was also an opportunity to raise awareness that unused or expired medicine should never be flushed or poured down the drain. Removing potentially dangerous pharmaceutical substances from our state's medicine cabinets helps to prevent them from going into our water supply and leaving them in medicine cabinets creates a risk for drugs to be stolen, misused or abused. During that four-year time period, law enforcement agencies had gotten into a rhythm of collecting drugs at one-day events or by installing permanent drug drop boxes in their lobbies. In October, 2014, the DEA announced that they would no longer conduct the national take-back days and therefore would no longer offer a means of disposal for the law enforcement agencies who had begun collecting drugs in 24/7 drop boxes. Law enforcement was faced with a situation where they were collecting the drugs yet had no means of disposing of them.

Prior to taking office in January, I heard from many of you that this was a considerable problem. Police departments were continuing to collect drugs in their communities yet you were running out of storage space in your evidence lockers. While some departments received grant funding to pay for the disposal of drugs, this was not a viable option for the majority of departments. Many did not have the budget to pay for disposal of the drugs collected.

At that time, I committed to ensuring that the DOJ continued the efforts formerly conducted by the DEA. As a result, we kicked off our first statewide Drug Take-Back in May. This event included 194 registered law enforcement agencies. The DEA had 159 agencies in its highest year. We are seeing more police departments willing to join us in our fight to get unused medications out of the hands of those for whom they are not prescribed. The WI DOJ posted the locations of the one-day events as well as the permanent drop boxes into a Google map on our website. This site was available to the public to search for locations nearest them. All told, there were 131 Take-Back events and 152 permanent drug drop boxes made available to the public. The permanent drop boxes remain on the DOJ website. We are seeing more and more departments departing from the one-day events and moving to the drop boxes.

DOJ provided registered agencies with disposal boxes and liners so that the drugs collected could be turned over to DOJ for disposal. After the one-day event, law enforcement delivered the boxes to Wisconsin State Patrol locations around the state. We were pleased to see that many of you collaborated at a local level to help transport the drugs for other departments. On May 20, 2015, DOJ staff from the Division of Law Enforcement Services (DLES) and the Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) accompanied the collected drugs to Indianapolis, Indiana where nearly 20 tons of drugs were safely destroyed in Covanta's incinerator. This was all done at very little cost to the law enforcement agencies who participated.

To assist agencies interested in participating in DOJ Take-Back events, the DOJ created a protocol. This protocol can be found on WILENET. We appreciate everyone's cooperation in following the protocol closely as it greatly contributed to the success of the May event. The key components to the Drug Take-Back and information that should be conveyed to the public are as follows:

No businesses allowed. All waste pharmaceuticals must be generated by a household

Bring: Prescription (controlled and non-controlled) and over-the-counter medications, ointments, patches, non-aerosol sprays, creams, vials and pet medications.

Do Not Bring: Illegal drugs, needles/sharps, inhalers, aerosol cans, bio-hazardous materials (anything containing a bodily fluid or blood), mercury thermometers, personal care products (shampoo, soaps, lotions, sunscreens, etc...), household hazardous waste (paint, pesticides, oil, gas).

- Participants may dispose of solid, non-liquid medication(s) by removing the medication from its container and disposing of it directly into a disposal box or into a clear sealable plastic bag. Plastic pill containers should not be collected. Blister packages are acceptable without the medications being removed.*
- Liquids will be accepted during this initiative. However, the liquids, creams and sprays must be in their original packaging and evenly distributed within the boxes of collected solid prescription medications. Liquids without the original packaging will not be accepted.
- Illicit substances such as marijuana or methamphetamine are not a part of this initiative and should not be placed in collection containers.*
- All participants must retain possession of their own medication during the surrender process. Law enforcement personnel should not handle the medications at any time.*

The May event was a great start but we must continue to hold these events in order to keep this momentum going. I ask you to join me in this important endeavor. DOJ will host our next statewide Drug Take-Back event on Saturday, October 17, 2015. Watch our website and WILENET for more information on how to register your department

Very truly yours,

*Brad D. Schimel
Attorney General*

State v. Hogan Decided by the Wisconsin Supreme Court (July 10, 2015)

Issue:

This case involved a traffic stop that morphed into a drugged driving investigation. The case dealt with whether it is a 4th amendment seizure if, 16 seconds after releasing a defendant, the police re-approach the defendant and ask for consent to search the vehicle. The case also dealt with the reasonable suspicion necessary for a Terry stop for suspecting a driver has a controlled substance in his/her system. The Wisconsin Supreme Court first held that the Terry stop was unlawful as the police did not have the requisite reasonable suspicion. Nevertheless, the high court held that the consent to search the vehicle was valid since the police had released the defendant from the improper Terry seizure and the subsequent consent was incident to a “consensual encounter” and not the product of an illegal seizure.

Facts:

The police stopped the defendant for a seat belt violation. The officer observed what he believed to be indicia of drug activity and called for back-up. The officer then wrote out a seat belt citation for the defendant and for his wife. Before the officer had finished the citation paper work, a local officer who knew the defendant arrived on the scene.

The arriving officer advised that his department had received tips that the defendant had a drug issue and was a “shake and bake” methamphetamine cooker. The police officer who had stopped the defendant then asked him to perform a series of field sobriety tests. The defendant passed all the tests. At this point, 24 minutes after the original stop, the officer told the defendant that he was free to leave. The defendant then started to leave and after 16 seconds, the officer re-approached the defendant and asked the defendant if he would consent to a search of his trunk. The defendant granted consent and the police found in the truck, methamphetamine, equipment and supplies commonly associated with manufacturing methamphetamine, and two loaded handguns.

The Defendant’s Argument:

The defendant argued that his traffic stop was unlawfully extended to last 24 minutes. He argued that the police did not have reasonable suspicion to hold him for anything other than a seat belt violation. Therefore, his eventual consent only occurred because of the unlawful detention.

The State’s Argument:

The state argued that the detention was permissible because the police had reasonable suspicion that the defendant had engaged in “drugged driving”. And the state argued that consent was granted after the defendant was released and therefore was the product of a consensual encounter and not the product of an unlawful seizure.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court Holding:

The high court agreed with the defendant to the extent that it opined that the police did not have the requisite reasonable suspicion to extend the traffic stop beyond the time necessary to process the seatbelt violations. It is important to note that the police might have had the reasonable suspicion but since it was not properly testified to, it was not considered as part of the record. But the court agreed with the state that the consent to search the vehicle was the product of a consensual encounter. In other words, the court reasoned that the unlawful stop was no longer relevant, once the stop was ended and the police told the suspect that he was free to go. Therefore, the evidence was admissible.

Key Points:

- 1) Proving driving with a controlled substance in your system does not require impairment, and thus the reasonable suspicion standard can be rather easily met. Here, the only real thing on the record to support the suspicion was the fact that the defendant was shaking. Other factors, including the defendant's prior record, would have been relevant but these facts did not make it into the record. This case highlights the importance of courtroom testimony in evaluating the propriety of a defendant's motion to suppress.
- 2) No matter the constitutional infirmity, once a defendant is released and the 4th amendment contact is concluded, subsequent police conduct is viewed under a new lens. In other words, once the defendant was released the impropriety of the original seizure was no longer relevant.
- 3) This case reminds us that the recent United States Supreme Court ruling in Rodriguez v. US (not allowing an extension of a traffic stop to accommodate a dog sniff) did not alter the law about ending a traffic stop and then re-initiating contact with the defendant as a consensual encounter.

Wisconsin State Patrol Mobile Data Browser (MDB) System and Mobile Architecture for Communications Handling (MACH) Software Alternative

Tuesday, March 17, 2015

9:18 PM

Users of the Mobile Data Browser (MDB) system supported by the Wisconsin State Patrol received notice on November 11, 2014 that the system is scheduled to be taken offline. The December 31st, 2015 deactivation date is due to an inability of the antiquated MDB system to meet new Criminal Justice Information Services (CJIS) security requirements.

As a replacement for the messaging and TIME system query capabilities of the MDB system, the Wisconsin State Patrol and Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources have jointly funded the sub-licensing of a software called Mobile Architecture for Communications Handling (MACH). MACH is offered through the National Model. <http://www.nationalmodel.us/>

The MACH software uses a broadband connection, GPS and downloaded maps to provide users with automatic vehicle location (AVL) capabilities. Beyond AVL functionality, MACH provides users with enhanced messaging features and the ability to securely run advanced queries of the TIME system. TIME system returns from MACH can be imported into the forms within the Traffic and Criminal Software (TraCS) software used by agencies across the state.

The MACH sub-license agreement has allowed the Wisconsin State Patrol to make the software available to more than sixty additional government public safety agencies including those seeking an alternative to the MDB system. Additional user agency costs are limited to those associated with the broadband data expenses, a $12 per year/per mobile unit Google Maps user fee and the expense of the hardware necessary to run MACH. The hardware requirements for MACH are identical to those required for Traffic and Criminal Software (TraCS) and the Incident Location Tool (ILT).

A video with a description of MACH and some of its capabilities is available on YouTube at: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=io-eLDgNct0>

Agencies that would like more information about the MACH software may contact: MACH@dot.wi.gov

A LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER YOU SHOULD KNOW

SUBMIT A LAW ENFORCEMENT MEMBER FOR RECOGNITION

Law enforcement officers, jailors, and juvenile detention personnel work tirelessly day-in and day-out to serve and protect our citizens. All too often their daily performance is taken for granted and only becomes newsworthy when something extraordinary happens.

The Department of Justice (DOJ) would like to recognize and provide a format for agencies and peers to recognize law enforcement officers, jailors, and juvenile detention officers who exhibit exceptional commitment, dedicated community service, and ethical leadership on a daily basis as they perform their duties. While many awards exist to recognize exceptional service, the so called "routine efforts" can sometimes go unnoticed.

DOJ would like to start featuring these dedicated public servants in the Law Enforcement Bulletin. If you are interested in participating in this great recognition opportunity please submit a candidate through the electronic form now available in the Law Enforcement Bulletin section of WILENET.

On the submission form you will have the opportunity to provide a short bio of the individual and share a story or provide an example of the extra effort, kindness, or creativity that your member shows in their work on a daily basis. A photo of the individual and/or the agency logo is also encouraged. Submissions will be excepted from front-line supervisors or higher and will be reviewed by DOJ staff. The support of our criminal justice partners will make this a successful endeavor and provide some well-deserved recognition to those in the field.

Park Falls Police Department

Submitted by: Scott Straetz

Officer: Marvin Nevelier

Officer's Bio:

Officer Nevelier has been with the dept. for 13 years. Nevelier is our drug officer and criminal investigator. Nevelier is also our EVOC Instructor.

Reason for Submission:

On July 4th, 2015 Officer Nevelier responded to a local restaurant for a man with a large knife in the parking lot. Upon arrival he found a man armed with an 18 inch butcher knife. The man was arguing with his brother. The officer also seen that the man had a cut on his hand. At one point the man walked toward the officer with the knife held high in his hand. As the man was walking toward the officer he was yelling in Spanish "I am going to kill you". Officer Nevelier who does not speak Spanish did not understand the man or what the man was saying. The man was approx. 16 feet from the officer and still walking toward him. Just before the officer was to use deadly force the man's brother walked up behind him and knocked the knife from his hand. The brother then picked up the knife and threw it. The man and his brother then began to fight. Officer Nevelier who still was the only officer on scene transitioned from his service weapon to his Taser. The officer tried to Taser the subject but only one probe hit the man. The officer then dry stunned the subject. The subject then jumped up and tried to run away. The officer was still the only officer on scene as back up has not yet arrived. The officer with the help of civilian personnel then tackled the subject and placed him in handcuffs. After searching the subject the officer found a knife hidden in the persons pant leg. After follow up the officer found out that this man was depressed and wanted to die using "Suicide by Cop". The officer was more than justified in using deadly force. Instead he remained calm, used his head and safely placed the man into custody.

OFFICER SAFETY TRAINING AT NO COST

BJA VALOR—Officer Safety Training at No Cost

Greetings,

As a registered user of the Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA) SLATT and/or CTFLI Web sites, we wanted to pass along that there is space available for you to attend the BJA VALOR Training scheduled for August 27, 2015, in Marquette, Michigan. The goal of the VALOR Initiative is to promote officer safety and to help prevent injuries and deaths of law enforcement officers and the people they serve. In this training, participants will learn to recognize the specific psychological and physiological responses that occur when an officer is involved in a highly stressful situation. They will be provided with tools to evaluate and de-escalate encounters with subjects before resorting to use-of-force applications.

This training will be submitted for MCOLES credit. For additional information regarding this training event, including online registration, please visit <http://www.valorforblue.org/s/10ccJ9GN>.

Please feel free to share this information with any additional sworn law enforcement officers whom you believe would like to attend this training. However, please note that this training is restricted to current sworn law enforcement officers.

For additional information regarding the VALOR Initiative, please visit www.valorforblue.org. Sworn law enforcement officers who are not already users of the VALOR Web Portal are encouraged to register for access to the secure portion of the portal. Registered users can access online training, law enforcement-sensitive publications, and additional resources.
